

Inflation slows, but '74 prices climbed 12.2 per cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rate of inflation slowed in December but consumer prices for all of 1974 climbed 12.2 per cent and registered the largest yearly increase since the end of World War II, the government said today.

With the exception of 1918 and 1946, two years in which the nation's economy was attempting to shake off the effects of wars, the 1974 jump was the largest since records have been kept, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The December increase in the Consumer Price Index was 0.7 per cent, the smallest since prices increased 0.5 per cent in April, the BLS said. The July rate also rose 0.7 per cent.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said the slowing in the cost of living advance confirms recent administration statements "that the inflation rate is going to come down."

But he quickly added: "Let us not fool ourselves that it's going to come down to what you and I would call a reasonable rate. We are still going to have a built-in rate of inflation that is going to be unacceptable and this is going to take years ... to bring back down."

The huge increase last year will further hinder the administration in controlling inflation in 1975. At least 7.6 million wage earners, military and civil service retirees and benefits for nearly 30 million Social Security recipients are tied to increases in the CPI.

The BLS said the index reached 155.4 last month, meaning that a typical selection of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967 cost $155.40 in December.

In 1918, the year after World War I ended, the government index rose 20.5 per cent and again in 1946, after World War II was over, it increased 18.1 per cent.

The increases in the consumer price index for the last three months of 1974 indicated some decline in the annual rate of inflation to 10.1 per cent.

Over the year about 40 per cent of the CPI increase was due to a 13.2 per cent rise in prices of nonfood commodities. The food index rose 12.2 per cent, exactly the same as the overall index during the year. Food accounts for about 25 per cent of the CPI.

The higher prices in December were blamed on food, especially sugar and items using sugar. Other price increases were in a wide range of goods and services, including household supplies, gas and electricity, and public transportation, the government said.

One body found, a 2nd sought; local man held

NOT LIKE THIS IN JUNGLE

Hiroo Onoda, 52, holds up a copy of his book after autographing it for Playboy Bunny Joan at the Chicago Playboy Club. Onoda, the World War II

Japanese army officer who hid in the Philippine jungle for 30 years believing the war was still going on, is visiting the U.S. for the first time.

A 31-year-old Ontario man was arrested by Riverside County Sheriff's deputies on suspicion of murder Monday after a badly decomposed body was found hidden in a clump of bushes off of Patton Road, one mile east of Ontario National Golf Course Monday morning.

San Bernardino County sheriff's deputies this morning were looking for yet another body that may have been buried near the old Garrett-Virginia Dare Winery at Foothill Boulevard and Haven Avenue in Alta Loma.

Both Riverside and San Bernardino counties sheriff's homicide officers are cooperating in the murder investigation.

Booked in the Riverside County Jail in connection with the possible murders is Robert Thomas Bradley Telford Sr., of 918 E. Holt Blvd. in Ontario.

Telford, according to officers, has been cooperating in the investigations after he was arrested on another charge Monday by Ontario Police Officer Bill Heigh.

Early Monday morning Riverside detectives and Ontario police went to a location about 100 yards south of Patton Road about one mile east of Etiwanda Avenue in the Riverside County area.

There, the officers and deputies found a badly decomposed body of a man in his late 20s or early 30s hidden in a clump of bushes and trash. The body was uncovered by the officers and a Riverside County coroner's deputy. An autopsy on the body later Monday revealed the man had died of a gunshot wound of the head.

Later Monday afternoon a number of deputies from the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Academy, with picks and shovels, arrived at the old Garrett Winery and began digging for what is believed to be the body of yet another man who may have been slain.

Riverside County Sheriff's Lt. Jerry Doyle said this morning that the body of the man found off Patton Road has been tentatively identified, but his name will not be released until his next of kin has been notified.

Doyle said the body had been lying on the ground since sometime in September, but had not been discovered because of the heavy brush and trash in the area.

Locked in storeroom, torched

13 killed in Montreal in gangland massacre

MONTREAL (UPI) — Thirteen persons—one with a bullet in his back—were found dead in a sleazy topless bar today, victims of a gangland assassination that nearly doubled the death toll of the infamous St. Valentine's Day massacre 45 years ago.

Bodies of the 10 men and three women were found in a padlocked and barricaded storeroom in the Club Gargantua in the city's northend. The storeroom had been set afire.

Police said the manager of the club, Regent Fortin, 43, was shot in the back and dumped in the small stockroom with the 12 others before the fire started. They said the others apparently died of asphyxiation.

Firemen answering the call at 12:27 a.m. EST said they had to move a heavy jukebox and break through a padlock to get into the six-foot by six-foot storeroom.

Police spokesman Jean Gauthier said "we are definitely classifying this as 13 murders. It was definitely a gangland killing with revenge as a motive."

He said the club was well known to police as a criminal hangout, adding, "There have been gang wars going on in the area."

Last Oct. 30, two men—Roger Levesque and Raymond Laurin—were shot to death in the club. At the time, police said the double murder was a revenge slaying connected with a falling-out between members of rival gangs.

Besides Fortin, police identified nine others: Augustin Carbonneau, 29, Pierre Lesiege, 22, Gaetan Caron, 23, Pierre Lamarche, Jacques Lamarche, Michel Viscardi, Gislain Briere, Yves Pigeon, 32, and Denise Lauze, a topless dancer at the club. It was not known immediately if the Lamarches were related.

The identities of the other three dead—two female and one male—were being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The bodies were found piled atop each other in the tiny storeroom, slumped over the cases of beer and softdrinks stored there.

The jukebox blocking the door to the stockroom was "heavy enough that it would have taken more than one person to move it," Constable Gauthier said. He said "the fact that they were locked in makes us sure it's homicide."

Police said they did not believe any, one besides the victims and the killers were in the bar at the time the fire started.

The club, which is located in a two-story brick building above a dry cleaning store, was heavily damaged by smoke. The area around the stockroom was charred more than the rest of the room.

The slayings nearly doubled the St. Valentine's massacre of Feb. 14, 1929 when seven members of the "Bugs" Moran gang were machine-gunned to death in a Chicago garage.

The mass murder was the worst in Montreal since September, 1972, when 37 persons died and 53 were injured in a fire in the Bluebird Cafe started by three disgruntled customers who fire bombed it after being barred.

Women can't be excluded from jury, says judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 8 to 1 today that women may not be systematically excluded from jury service or given automatic exemptions if this produces predominantly male panels from which criminal juries are selected.

The opinion by Justice Byron R. White cited the right of a criminal defendant "to trial by an impartial jury drawn from a fair cross-section of the community."

The opinion reversed the conviction of Billy J. Taylor on kidnapping charges in Covington, La.

At the time, Louisiana law automatically excluded a woman from jury duty unless she filed a declaration with the local court that she wanted to serve. Since then, the state has adopted a new constitution eliminating the female exemption clause.

100 m.p.h. winds cause heavy damage in Colorado

By United Press International

Wind gusts of more than 100 miles per hour howled across the Colorado Rockies Monday, overturning trailer homes, tearing roofs from homes and knocking radio stations off the air.

A gasoline tank fire, fanned by 100 mile-per-hour winds, spread to a farmhouse at Waverly, Colo. The owner of the home Orville Pierce, was seriously burned.

Wind gusts clocked at up to 194 miles per hour ripped through the downtown section of Fort Collins, Colo., causing repeated power shortages at KHX radio.

"We can't stay on the air," KHX News Director Ernie Over said. "We can't even get out to the weather measuring instruments to find out how hard the wind is blowing."

Winds also buffeted Boulder, Colo., inflicting heavy damage. Limbs were torn from trees and hurled to the ground, smashing the roofs of cars, picture windows were shattered and two houses were unroofed.

"We've got quite a bit of damage but no injuries," said Sgt. Gordon Moore of the Boulder police.

In the east, snow snarled traffic and forced school closings and an icy chill sent the mercury plummeting well below the zero mark.

Up to 3½ inches of snow blanketed portions of New Jersey Monday and 60 public and parochial schools were closed in Morris, Warren, Hunterdon and Sussex counties. Ice glazed the Garden State Parkway and the New Jersey Turnpike, where speed limits were reduced to 45 miles per hour because of the hazardous conditions.

Snow emergency plans were put into effect in the Maryland counties of Carroll, Howard, Baltimore and Harford and motorists without chains or snow tires were barred from major roads. Schools were closed in the four-county Baltimore area and in Washington and Frederick counties in western Maryland.

Four major eastern racetracks were forced to cancel their programs Monday because of unsafe track conditions caused by snow and cold weather.

Racing programs were snowed out at Maryland's Bowie track, Massachusetts' Suffolk Downs and Rhode Island's Lincoln Downs. Keystone track in Pennsylvania postponed racing through today. Garden State Park in New Jersey ran only two races Monday before jockeys, citing unsafe conditions, refused to ride.

New Englanders, who enjoyed springlike weekend weather, were brought back to winter's reality Monday as a blast of cold air brought a temperature drop of as much as 50 degrees, sending the mercury to its lowest level of the year.

The mercury dropped to 15 below zero in Caribou, Maine, and the National Weather Service said temperatures would drop to 30 below in some areas of Maine early today. Temperatures as low as 35 below zero were forecast for some mountain areas of Vermont.

Deserters streaming in to beat deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sudden surge of deserters is flocking to Ft. Benjamin Harrison in Indiana to join President Ford's amnesty program before it expires Jan. 31.

Pentagon figures show that in the last two weeks an average of 69 men have shown up at the fort every day. In the previous 14 weeks of the program an average of 30 men a day volunteered. The best previous week of the program was the first, when 60 arrived daily.

Military officers working on the program had predicted there would be a last-minute flood of volunteers just before the deadline.

Judge reverses jury verdict, declares 'alphabet bomber' insane

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reversing a jury verdict, a judge Monday declared insane Muharem Kurbegovic, the alleged "alphabet bomber" responsible for the worst civil airport bombing in U.S. history, saying it would be a "mockery of justice" to put Kurbegovic on trial.

Kurbegovic laughed, sobbed, whistled and wrote bizarre communications while the judge declared he could not accept the jury verdict that the Yugoslavian immigrant was faking insanity to escape the gas chamber.

"If he (Kurbegovic) is I think he put on an Academy-award winning performance here in this courtroom," said

Superior Court Judge William B. Keene.

Keene said it was obvious to him that Kurbegovic cannot understand the proceedings against him, has little touch with reality and could not defend himself if he were put on trial.

All four psychiatrists called as expert witnesses in the sanity trial testified that Kurbegovic is mentally deranged to a severe degree, referring to him as "a raving maniac" and "a mad bomber." The prosecution offered no witnesses or testimony that Kurbegovic was sane.

Kurbegovic faced three counts of murder, and seven other charges.

He was accused of planting a bomb that killed three persons and wounded 35 at Los Angeles International Airport Aug. 6, leaving another bomb in a bus terminal locker and setting fire to the homes and apartments of officials he blamed for denying him a dance hall permit because of his record as a sex offender.

The "alphabet bomber" had threatened more bombings to "write in blood" the name of his purported army, "Aliens of America," beginning with the airport for the letter A, until all sex and immigration laws were repealed.

Keene ordered Kurbegovic committed to Atascadero state mental hospital. His sanity will be routinely reviewed in 90 days.

Kurbegovic, over the objections of his public defender, was allowed to write a lengthy, rambling message to the court on a blackboard. Kurbegovic has refused to utter a word since his arrest, communicating only by scribbled notes.

The blackboard communique said he was "identification man No. 1 of the government of the world," which possesses "19 Soviet built thermonuclear bombs and four U.S. built atomic bombs. We are ready and willing to use them all on July 4, 1975. The city of Jerusalem shall be surgically removed off the face of the earth."

He said major world powers would receive "written ultimatum to surrender all their powers to us," and "western civilization and its derivative communism must be dismantled by external force" to save the planet.

The statement said that all agents of the secret world government are schizophrenics because of "military awareness that the resistance to torture of a schizophrenic is by the order of magnitude greater than that of a healthy human ... sometime next month I'll go totally nuts and dumb for reasons of building resistance to impact of torture."

Councilmen approve 2 reservoir plans

By VONNE ROBERTSON
P-B Staff Writer

Upland City Council will call for bids to construct two reservoirs as part of its water expansion program.

Engineering-Science, Inc., with Frank Steiner of Arcadia as spokesman, presented plans for the reservoirs at the council meeting Monday night. Reservoirs are part of a $2.5 million water revenue bond project approved in 1974.

A circular reservoir in San Antonio Park is designed below ground level with a concrete roof. The roof, level with the park surface, could be used as a handball court or assembly area, according to designers.

The other reservoir, to be located at 17th Street and Benson Avenue, will be above ground with walls constructed in a fluted concrete design for both appearance and strength.

Both reservoirs have been designed with maximum employee safety and security incorporated in the plans, according to Steiner.

Plans will be available to bidders Friday. Bids will be opened March 25.

The council unanimously approved the request of Great Western Rose Co. to allow the storage of empty plastic containers in a warehouse on its property located on the south side of 19th Street west of Campus Avenue.

For the past four years, the warehouse has been used primarily for packaging and shipping bare root roses from December until mid-February which is compatible with its agriculture zone.

The plastic can storage by American Can requires a conditional use permit which is granted by the council with nine specific stipulations. These include the restriction of hours to from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the limiting of trucks to not more than two in operation at any one time.

Council members recommended the approval of a tentative map for two parcels of land located on the north side of Ninth Street between Turquoise Way and Garnet Way where a rest home is to be built on one parcel.

Community residents have expressed concern over traffic in the area created by the construction of the rest home especially since Turquoise Way has a narrow entrance off Ninth Street.

Norman Webb, a member of the Church of Christ which has requested the map approval, stated that the church will guarantee that widening, curbing and paving will be completed on Turquoise Way at the church's expense before the Sunset Haven Rest Home is completed and opened.

At Fairgrounds Arabian horse show

The 14th annual Whittier Lions Club All-Arabian Horse Show has drawn a record 324 horses and more than 1,000 entries for its regional championship competition Jan. 24-26 at the Los Angeles County Fairground at Pomona.

Prominent stables from all sections of the West Coast and Nevada will pit their prize Arabians against Southern California entries from Whittier, Hacienda Heights, La Habra, La Mirada, Rowland Heights, Pomona, Diamond Bar, Chino, La Puente, Walnut and Ontario.

Prize money has been increased from $3,000 to $6,000 this year.

Competition will start at 8 a.m. Jan. 24 with half-Arabian breeding and halter classes, followed by half-Arabian English and Western Pleasure, Park Horses, and native costume classes at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Purebreds in the same breeding and halter classes will highlight the Saturday morning session with performance classes beginning at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Championships will be decided in halter competition at 8 a.m. Sunday. Winners will be paraded in the Carnation Ring before the 1 p.m. program featuring regional and show championships in English Pleasure, Western Pleasure, Park and Trail Horses.

Proceeds will go to Lions' charitable projects, including eyesight conservation and children's activities. No admission is charged.

P.O. okays Pomona stamp

A special postage cancellation stamp marking Pomona's 100th anniversary will be placed in service beginning Wednesday at the Pomona Post Office.

Pomona Postmaster Warren Lynch said that the cancellation stamp will be used only on mail placed in a special mail slot labeled "Pomona Postmark Only." Both local and other types of mail may be deposited in the special slot, however.

The cancellation stamp reads "Pomona, Calif., 1875 Centennial 1975 Celebration."

Use of the Cancellation stamp was sought by the Pomona Centennial Committee and approved by the United States Postal Service.

Your income tax

By RAY DE CRANE

If you are itemizing deductions on your income tax return, or weighing the choice of itemizing or taking the 15 per cent standard deduction, consider carefully the opportunities afforded in the miscellaneous deductions category.

This one should not be dismissed too casually. There could be a treasure trove of opportunities.

Consider these possibilities:

Alimony paid to a former wife if she is required to report it as income on her tax return.

Dues and assessments paid to a labor union, together with dues paid to a professional organization. But do not include that portion of dues or assessments that provides for a death benefit.

Child and dependent care deductions which could be as high as $400 a month.

Employment agency fees paid to obtain a job. Some Tax Court rulings permit you to claim that this deduction even if the fee did not produce a permanent job. You may have a problem with IRS if you paid the agency fee and no job resulted, but the Tax Court is in your side.

Unreimbursed work expense, such as the purchase and laundering of required uniforms, purchase of rubber and asbestos gloves used in certain occupations; safety equipment such as special safety shoes, safety glasses and a hard hat if purchased by you rather than being furnished by your employer.

Small tools and other supplies used in your work which have a life expectancy of less than a year.

Business entertainment required by the nature of your work to the extent not reimbursed by the employer.

The cost of professional journals and the fee paid an investment counselor by an investor.

Safety deposit box fee if the box is used to store securities and records for income-producing property.

Tax counsel fees paid for the preparation of your tax return.

Expenses incurred in connection with the production or collection of income.

Educational expenses, if the training was to maintain or improve skills required on the job or to meet your employer's specific job requirements or if required by law or regulation to maintain your status.

You can get details on how to save dollars on your 1974 income tax by following the step-by-step instructions in "Save Money on 1975 Taxes," the book by Ray De Crane that tells all. Send your name; address and zip number with check or money order for $1.00 plus 25 cents for postage and handling to Progress-Bulletin Tax Book; P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Allow three weeks for delivery.

Judge upholds controversial antismog device law

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge Monday refused to declare the controversial antismog device for 1966-70 model cars an unconstitutional discrimination against Southern Californians—but the legislature may still repeal the law requiring them.

Superior Court Judge Harry L. Hupp denied a request by Los Angeles County, led by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, for an injunction against enforcement of the requirement.

The county argued that the requirement, once meant to apply statewide, was discriminatory now that it applies only to six southern counties.

Hupp ruled that there is nothing unconstitutional in the state legislature passing laws that apply only to certain parts of the state, unless it acts in an "irrational or arbitrary manner." Well grounded distinctions are constitutional, he said, and "there is respectable scientific opinion saying there is a different (air pollution) situation in Southern California than in other parts of the state."

To the county's argument that the devices do not halt pollution as claimed, Hupp said it was not the business of the courts to determine "whether the legislation is a good idea or a bad idea," but the function of the legislature.

Hahn said he was "disappointed" by Hupp's ruling but confident the requirement for the devices would eventually be repealed by the legislature, or nullified by further court action. Deputy County Counsel James Clark said the county may appeal Hupp's ruling.

The law is currently on the books, but is not being enforced. It requires installation of additional antismog devices on 1966-70 autos to cut down emissions of oxides of nitrogen.

The devices cost a legal maximum, installed, of $35 and are supposed to be installed on cars of those years in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Orange counties.

However, the highway patrol has agreed not to cite offenders while the legislature considers a move to repeal the requirement altogether. The repeal bill has passed one committee and is now in the Senate Finance Committee.

Hahn has called the requirement "a $63 million ripoff of 1.8 million motorists."

Opponents of the requirement argue that the devices cause serious engine damage, reduced gasoline mileage, impose a financial burden on the owners of older cars who are least able to afford it and are uneeded because the number of older cars diminishes constantly anyway as they wear out and are junked.

Woman, son robbed as they sit in car

Robberies continued through the valley Monday with one reported in La Verne and four more in Pomona.

In La Verne a woman and her son were robbed as they sat in their car parked in the 2400 block of Pepper Street.

The victims, Rhonda Holmes, 38, Newport Beach, and her son, Bruce, 16, both former La Verne residents, had been visiting in an apartment complex at that location. They were in their car when two young men walked up, one showed a pistol and threatened to "blow their heads off" if they didn't surrender their valuables. Mrs. Holmes gave up her purse which contained a $1,600 sapphire gold ring, other jewelry and some cash. The loss was just under $2,000.

After getting the money the men fled through the apartment buildings to a car and sped away. The armed man was described as a Negro about 18, wearing a brown coat, blue jeans and white knit cap. He had a revolver with white grips.

In W. Foothill Blvd., was held up shortly after 7 p.m. Two employees, Harold C. Norehim, 17, and Marty C. Johnson, 17, were forced to lie on the floor by an armed man. He was described as a Caucasian about 20, 5 feet 6 weighing 140 pounds. He wore a dark cap and green jacket and carried a .38-caliber revolver.

A few minutes later the Kentucky Fried Chicken shop at 2377 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, was robbed by a lone gunman. Lona Marie Kendall, 39, surrendered cash to a man described as a Caucasian about 38, 5 feet 9 weighing 160 pounds. He had a dark crew cut, wore dark glasses and sped away in a yellow pickup truck.

A woman was robbed of her purse as she walked beneath the Corona Expressway overpass at Valley Boulevard in Pomona Monday afternoon. Eileen Evans, 64, who lives nearby, said a youth ran up behind her and snatched her purse containing some cash. The thief was described as a Negro about 5 feet 10 weighing 160 pounds wearing a black shirt and trousers. A second youth was with him.

Sunday evening Leandro Andrade, 16, was robbed of his wallet, and two of his companions were cut slightly when they were confronted by three youths in the 900 block of E. Seventh Street in Pomona.

The youths who were hurt, Reyes Jaure, 13, and Albert R. Ayala, 12, were cut on their hands but did not require medical attention.

The youth with the knife was a Caucasian about 16, 5 feet 9 and weighing at least 180 pounds. He wore a dark cap and dark clothing.

A 17-year old Ontario youth is in San Bernardino County Juvenile Hall this morning after he was captured by Up-land police following a service station burglary and a high speed automobile chase Monday morning.

Police Officer Lou Morales said the youth was seen carrying items from a close Mohawk Service Station at 770 E. Ninth St.

He chased the youth's car northbound on Campus Avenue and then eastbound on Washington Street. The youth's vehicle crashed at the end of Washington Street and Morales with the assistance of other officers apprehended the youth.

Morales said the youth had a set of burglary tools on his person, and approximately 114 cans of oil, stolen from the service station. The youth was arrested on charges of burglary, possession of burglary tools, assault with a deadly weapon on police officer, and reckless driving.

Assault planned on Granada Hills gas fire

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Texas oilwell firefighter Red Adair today planned a three-state assault on the natural gas fire that has raged out of control here since Sunday.

The fire is burning up about $500 a day worth of gas at the Aliso Canyon storage area above the Porter Ranch in the Northwestern San Fernando Valley near the Los Angeles city and county line.

Adair, who has a worldwide reputation for extinguishing fires in petroleum fields, said that if the first stage of his plan works, the fire could be extinguished in two days—and if not, the next two stages could take two weeks.

The first stage calls for large doses of "heavy water"—seawater and mud—forced down the adjoining wells in hopes of shutting off the gas flow beneath the earth.

Failing that, he said, adjoining wells will have to be flooded, or a hole dug down to cap the leaky pipe that is feeding the flames.

Adair said Monday he planned to continue pouring the "heavy water" into adjoining wells. Clouds of steam from the superheated solution rose over the field, surrounding the column of fire 125 feet high.

Adair said the other solutions would take longer because he needs special equipment, which was being trucked here from his headquarters in Houston.

The fire is burning in one of the largest natural gas storage fields in the world, owned by the Southern California Gas Co.

It broke out Sunday night for unknown reasons as workers labored to plug a leak.

Firemen cut firebreaks to prevent the blaze from spreading to the nearby Angeles National Forest, or any of the other wells in the field, which has an estimated capacity of 70 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

cap and green jacket and carried a .38-caliber revolver.

A few minutes later the Kentucky

Fried Chicken shop at 2377 N. Garey

Ave., Pomona, was robbed by a lone gunman. Lona Marie Kendall, 39, surrendered cash to a man described as a

Caucasian about 38, 5 feet 9 weighing 160 pounds. He had a dark crew cut, wore dark glasses and sped away in a yellow pickup truck.

A woman was robbed of her purse as she walked beneath the Corona Expressway overpass at Valley Boulevard

in Pomona Monday afternoon. Eileen

Evans, 64, who lives nearby, said a youth ran up behind her and snatched her purse containing some cash. The thief was described as a Negro about 5 feet 10 weighing 160 pounds wearing a black shirt and trousers. A second youth was with him.

Sunday evening Leandro Andrade,

16, was robbed of his wallet, and two of his companions were cut slightly

when they were confronted by three youths in the 900 block of E. Seventh Street in Pomona.

The youths who were hurt, Reyes

Jaure, 13, and Albert R. Ayala, 12, were cut on their hands but did not require medical attention.

The youth with the knife was a

Caucasian about 16, 5 feet 9 and weighing at least 180 pounds. He wore a dark cap and dark clothing.

A 17-year old Ontario youth is in

San Bernardino County Juvenile Hall

this morning after he was captured by

Up-land police following a service station burglary and a high speed automobile chase Monday morning.

Police Officer Lou Morales said the youth was seen carrying items from a close Mohawk Service Station at 770 E.

Ninth St.

He chased the youth's car northbound on Campus Avenue and then eastbound on Washington Street. The youth's vehicle crashed at the end of

Washington Street and Morales with the assistance of other officers apprehended the youth.

Morales said the youth had a set of burglary tools on his person, and approximately 114 cans of oil, stolen from the service station. The youth was arrested on charges of burglary, possession of burglary tools, assault with a deadly weapon on police officer, and reckless driving.

AM joins cash rebate program to lure buyers

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. today joined its "Big Three" automotive competitors in offering cash rebates of $200 to $500 to lure customers into its showrooms.

AMC said it will offer $200 rebates to buyers of subcompact Gremlins and compact Hornets, $400 on Hornet "X" and D-L and Touring package models, $300 on the 1975 Matador coupe and $600 on the special Matador Cassini model.

AMC, acting just one day after General Motors bowed to competitive pressure from Chrysler Corp. and the Ford Motor Co., said its rebates will be paid to customers who take delivery of cars between Jan. 21 and Feb. 28.

GM's rebates range from $200 to $500 on subcompact and compact models, Ford's from $200 to $500 on small cars and one truck model and Chrysler's $200 to $400 on selected models that change each week.

The AMC program differs from other rebate programs in that it provides an option for the buyer to take the special rebate entirely in cash or a combination of the company's extended buyer protection plan, valued at $50, and the balance in cash.

The decision by GM and AMC to enter the rebate program with cash payments for buyers of small cars shows how fast small car popularity has dropped in less than one year.

Spiraling Medi-Cal costs could bankrupt state

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Chairman Anthony C. Beilenson of the Senate Finance Committee warns that spiraling Medi-Cal costs threaten to "bankrupt" the state unless major remedial steps are taken.

"We've got to do something fairly draconian, perhaps," the liberal Los Angeles Democrat said.

Beilenson issued the warning Monday when the Finance Committee received a formal briefing on Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed $11.3 billion state budget.

State Finance Director Roy M. Bell, who noted that Medi-Cal costs are among the fastest rising in state government, agreed that "we've got a tiger by the tail."

Brown has proposed spending $2.26 billion in state, federal and local funds in the next fiscal year on the health care program for the California needy. This would be an increase of about 10.8 per cent over current expenditures.

The increase would occur in the face of skyrocketing Medi-Cal costs over the past few years. Generally, the increase is blamed on higher costs of health care providers.

Beilenson noted, for example, that current spending is up 17.7 per cent over last year and 1973-74 costs had sailed by 20.2 per cent over the prior year.

Russ ship rescues 34

Tanker explodes as it runs aground; 2 crewmen killed

MIAMI (UPI) — Two crewmen were presumed killed and three others injured today when a 550-foot Cypriot tanker loaded with naphtha ran aground and exploded on a Bahamian reef.

The Coast Guard said 34 of the 37 crewmen aboard the tanker "Lucky Era" were rescued by a Russian ship, which rushed to the aid of the stricken vessel.

"The master of the Cypriot ship refuses to abandon the vessel," the Coast Guard said, "and the two crewmen missing and presumed dead are also still on the tanker."

The Coast Guard said the Russian merchant vessel, Aleksandr Kollontay, reached the Cypriot tanker about dawn, lowered small boats into the nearly calm seas and began removing crewmen from the burning ship.

One of the injured crewmen was seriously burned, the Coast Guard reported, another crewman had a broken leg and a third crewman suffered a broken arm.

"What can you get for making a great deal with The Dodge Boys? A check for $300 from Dodge."

Joe Garagiola

Listen to Joe G. I'm gonna tell you how to make the deal of a lifetime on the "Dodge of the Week." Right now, during the Car Clearance Carnival at the Dodge Boys.

Here's how: Every week from now till February 16, the Dodge Boys will pick one gorgeous Dodge as "Dodge of the Week." Could be a Monaco. A Dart. A Coronet. Even a pickup or van. Now you hustle down and make the Dodge Boys give you their deal on that Dodge. Then, find out how you collect your trade in from Dodge for at least $200. But there's more. Trade in the right car on the "Dodge of the Week," and you get a $100 trade-in bonus. That's a total of $300!

But there's more to the Car Clearance Carnival than "Dodge of the Week" deals. Through February 28, the Dodge Boys are offering other great deals on all '75

Dodges. They've got a lot of cars to move. And they're gonna move 'em.

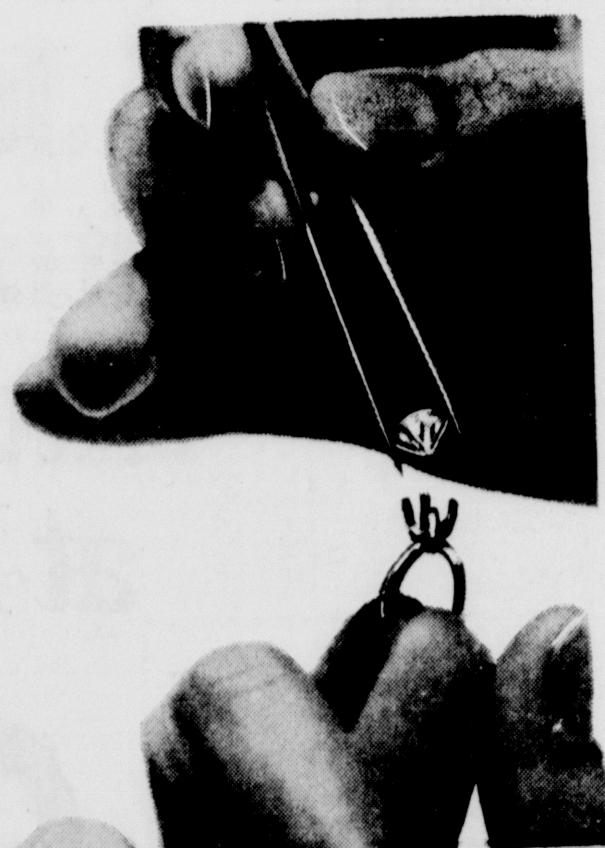

And—even if you don't end up buying a new Dodge, you might end up driving one. Just by entering the Dodge Boys' Clearance Sweepstakes! Each sweepstakes winner (and there'll be plenty—so one could be you) gets free use of a brand-new Dodge for one whole year. You've got nothing to lose. You've got nothing to buy. You've got to do nothing to lose. You've got to do nothing to buy.

But gotta. If you're not driving a new Dodge by the end of the Car Clearance Carnival, it won't be the Dodge Boys' fault.

<sup>2</sup> Sweepstakes ends February 28, 1975. Void in states where prohibited by law. Open only to licensed drivers 18 years old or older.

Oil workers await contract offer in Southland strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nearly 2,000 oil workers continued to strike three Southern California refineries today awaiting a contract offer they say must be comparable to a "model" settlement negotiated earlier this month with Gulf Oil.

The Gulf settlement, which union officials said averted a general strike against the oil industry, called for an immediate 75-cent per hour pay hike, two additional raises totaling 12 per cent, a 10th holiday and increased medical and pension-retirement benefits.

In El Segundo, 850 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Union members remained off the job at the Standard Oil Company refinery. They walked off the job last week, followed by 1,000 Union Oil workers at Wilmington, Santa Maria and a small facility in San Francisco. On Saturday, 80 refinery workers struck the Douglas station in Paramount.

More than 500 workers at the Mobil Oil Company refinery in Torrance were scheduled to vote on a contract offer today following Saturday's tentative agreement, said to be very close to the Gulf agreement.

Talks were held Monday between Shell and Powerline Oil Company officials and OCAW negotiators.

Mobil, Shell and Powerline Oil Company refinery workers have continued to work during the negotiations.

OCAW District Director Charles Armin said that talks would continue with Shell and Powerline and that bargaining sessions between the other oil companies and OCAW representatives were scheduled to resume soon.

Thus far, settlements have been reached with Gulf Oil, Texaco and Atlantic Richfield.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHAT ARE TERMITES?"

JENNIFER BLAIN
WESTLAKE, OH

TERMITES ARE SMALL, ANTLIKE INSECTS THAT FEED ON WOOD. TERMITE NESTS ARE HIDDEN IN WOOD OR IN THE GROUND.

Termites are small, antlike insects that feed on wood. Like ants, termites live in large colonies, in which there is a king and queen, many workers that build and tend the nest and search for food and soldier termites that guard the nest from insect enemies. Termite nests are hidden in wood or in the ground. Termites will eat nearly everything made of wood, including paper. Those that live in the forests serve a useful function by cleaning away dead wood. But when they attack our houses and belongings, that is a different story. Oddly enough, the termite cannot digest the wood it eats. The stomachs of termite workers are filled with little one-celled creatures called protozoans. The termite chews the wood and swallows the tiny chips. The protozoans feed on the cellulose in the wood and convert it into foods that both the protozoans and the termite live on.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DAL), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Reciprocity Bureau plans winter program

Pomona Valley PEO Reciprocity Bureau has scheduled its annual midwinter luncheon for unaffiliates on Saturday noon at the First United Methodist Church, 262 N. Euclid Ave., Upland.

Miss Karen Jones, field representative for Cottey College in Nevada, Mo., will be the speaker. A former San Gabriel Valley resident, Miss Jones is a graduate of Azusa High School. She is a 1968 graduate of Cottey College and earned a bachelor's degree from Missouri Southern College.

Miss Jones is a member of the PEO Sisterhood and will represent Cottey College while touring New England, the midwestern and southern States and the West Coast.

Cottey College is one of the few remaining two-year, liberal arts college for women in the United States. Traditionally, 90 per cent of its graduates transfer to four-year college.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Raymond Smith, 982-0350.

All unaffiliated members of PEO are invited to attend the luncheon and meet members of nine chapters in the bureau.

Arrangements have been made by Ellen Stuart, Chapter CS program chairman; members of chapter PR, QU and KX.

BELINDA KENDRICK

Spring wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kendrick of Pomona announce the betrothal of their daughter, Belinda Marie, to Peter Michael Usa.

A 1973 graduate of Ganesha High School, the bride-elect is employed by Fotomat Corporation.

Mr. Usa is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Usa of Ontario. He graduated from Chaffey High School and attended Chaffey College. He serves in the Coast Guard Reserve and is employed at Kaiser Steel, Fontana.

A May 3 wedding is planned by the couple.

January birthdays to be marked

The Women's Community Club of Pomona Valley will honor members having birthdays in January at the Wednesday noon luncheon at the clubhouse, 172 W. Monterey St.

January honorees are: Mrs. Elsie Redinger, Mrs. Brenda Cochran, Mrs. Ernst Wurl, Mrs. Beryl Hoyt and Mrs. Fanny Carelli.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Wallace Siedschlag and Mrs. Warren Conarroe.

Amelia Earhart dinner charted Wednesday eve

Zonta Club of Pomona Valley will hold its Amelia Earhart dinner Wednesday at Red Hill Country Club at 7 p.m. Mrs. Dorothy Ranson will introduce the speaker, Dr. James Finley, who will show a film, "Around the World in 14 Days."

Easter bonnet

If what goes on in New York fashion showrooms is any indication, it will be a spring marking the return of the Easter bonnet.

Good play can beat overbid

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South glared at his partner and yelled, "Do you have to overbid all the time? Couldn't you double four spades and take a profit?"

Then he spread his hand and announced, "I have to go down one trick."

West who was keeping score, put down his hand and chalked up 100 points on his side of the ledger. North picked up the West hand, looked it over carefully, turned to his partner and said, "If you had the brains of any animal quieter than a braying jackass, you would have kept your mouth shut and wrapped up your contract."

North was right and the play to make five diamonds in not really complicated. In fact it is a sure thing provided West has eight spades and at least one trump.

South wins the first spade; draws trumps with two leads; cashes the top hearts and clubs and noted that West has followed to one heart and to both clubs. Now South leads a low club.

If West wins the trick he must play spades. After following once South gets to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other. If East wins he can cash a heart, but then must give South a ruff and spade discard.

Firemen paramedics OKd Police building expansion

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — A request to rescind a controversial paramedic pilot program in Chino has been denied by the Board of Supervisors despite objections from private ambulance companies that tax money should not be used to provide emergency medical services.

Last month the board approved a proposal to establish the program with Chino Rural Fire District. Three members of that department are to begin paramedic training at Loma Linda Hospital next week.

The proposal came under attack from members of the Ambulance Association of San Bernardino County, who claimed that firemen-paramedics would hurt the business of private ambulance companies.

Chief opponent of the program is Homer Aerts, owner of Kniffin Ambulance Co. of Chino, who said that his company had spent $18,000 in the past year gearing up to provide paramedic service to that area.

Aerts said if the board failed to rescind approval of the program his company might be forced to relocate to some other community.

Steve Rice, a San Bernardino ambulance operator, asked the board to at least hold off on the pilot program until it had obtained all facts relating to operation of a paramedic unit.

Rice said that the county was depending on federal funds from the Emergency Medical Act of 1973 to finance the paramedic program on a county-wide basis, but said there was no assurance that these funds would be provided.

Fourth District Supervisor Robert O. Townsend said federal funds were not involved in the Chino pilot program because the district already has the necessary funds of $14,500 available in the budget.

He also said that the board could not be concerned with any possible adverse impact the program might have on private ambulance companies. "Our main concern here is providing a much needed public service. We can't be concerned with the potential damage to a private enterprise," he said.

"And as for the facts," Townsend said holding aloft an inch thick file on the paramedic program, "I have a lot more facts now than I did when I first proposed this program, and I'm more convinced than ever that this is a vital public service we are providing."

Among the more disturbing facts in the file, Townsend said, was a report from Los Angeles County indicating that private ambulance companies experience a 70 per cent turnover in ambulance attendants every year.

"It's hard to believe that the private companies can provide a consistently high level of service with that kind of turnover," Townsend said.

He said that the turnover rate for firemen was about one per cent annually.

Aerts first made his objections known to the Chino City Council earlier this month after which the council expressed disapproval of the program, and indicated that it had no desire to compete with private business.

Police building expansion

Mayor Harold Hayes praised the federal revenue sharing program during groundbreaking ceremonies for expansion of the Montclair Police Department.

Expansion, funded through the revenue sharing program between the federal government and cities, will add 7,000 square feet to the police department in Montclair Civic Center.

City Council, administrative staff, Police Chief Ray McLean, and Jim Pence and Jay Cooper of Penco Builders, Inc. which will construct the first phase of the expansion attended the ceremony Monday.

"We are pleased that some of the tax dollars paid by residents are now being expended for their benefit with the completion of this project," he added.

Phase one will consist of the building shell and site work, at a cost of approximately $162,179. Upon completion of phase one in April, bids will be called for the second phase to include interior construction and remodeling of the existing facility.

Larry Johnson, the city's senior building official, will be resident inspector for the project. Cooper will be in charge of the contracting work by Penco.

"This enlargement will alleviate present cramped conditions that exist and will provide for a modern, efficient and more functional building," said Chief McLean.

POLICE DEPARTMENT UNDERWAY

The project will cost approximately $369,000 and add 7,000 square feet to the police facility. Costs are being paid through federal revenue sharing.

Council rejects substandard home plan

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona City Council Monday night rejected a proposed ordinance that would have required city inspections of all housing units at the time of sale.

The ordinance was defeated by a unanimous vote.

While most council members stated they supported goals of the ordinance, they could not approve of the city becoming a party to real estate transactions.

"Very few of us would disagree with the objectives of the ordinance," said councilman Charles Bader.

Bader stated, however, that he could not support an ordinance that "interjects the city into the ownership rights of the citizen."

The proposed measure would have required issuance of a certificate of occupancy on all residential units at the time of sale. In order for a certificate to be granted, a home or apartment would have to meet minimum building code requirements in effect at the time the structure was built.

The measure did contain an "escape clause" in that a city inspection and the certificate could be waived at the buyer's request.

The basic goal of the ordinance was to upgrade residential units that are substandard and prevent units from falling into the substandard category.

The ordinance was drafted by a Planning Commission committee and had been the subject of extensive consideration by that body. The Planning Commission recommended its approval.

Prior to the council vote, City Administrator Jerrold Gonce asked that the measure be held back for 30 days in order to allow further study.

Although the measure was voted down, the council did leave an impression that it would consider alternate ordinances of a similar nature in the future, providing that future ordinances are not of such a mandatory nature as the one presented Monday.

In other business, the council approved another ordinance dealing with substandard housing.

The ordinance provides that if a dwelling is declared sub-standard, the owner shall have six months to bring the structure up to code requirements or lose his right to claim a deduction for the building on his state taxes.

The ordinance is aimed primarily at absentee landlords who maintain substandard rental units as a tax shelter for other income.

The council approved a staff plan for the use of some $350,000 in federal job funds under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title VI.

The plan calls for a sharing of nearly half the funds with the cities of Claremont, Walnut and a number of Pomona based community agencies.

Pomona will receive funds through Los Angeles County, which has approved Pomona's plan to share funds with other agencies. It remains unclear, however, whether the sharing meets federal guidelines for the CETA program.

Mayor Ray Lepire emphasized that the plan for sharing the funds would be changed upon an adverse ruling.

Funds should provide about 40 jobs in all, with hiring to occur prior to Feb. 10.

Besides Claremont and Walnut, which will receive $18,900 and $10,000 respectively, other agencies to share in the funds are Open Choices, Pomona Open Door, Pomona Valley Education Center, Pomona Boys Club, La Escuelita, YWCA, YMCA, Neighborhood Adult Participation Project and Girl Scouts. Each of the nonprofit agencies will receive $10,000.

Teachers will campaign for tax override

By PHILLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

Associated Chaffey Teachers (ACT) Monday pledged their support to Chaffey district's March 4 tax override election, and asked that cuts be made as far from the classroom as possible should it fail.

ACT President Lealon E. Watts said that the need is clear for approval of the override if the present high level of education is to be maintained.

"The Chaffey community has an excellent history of support for education when the need has been shown, and the need is clear today," said Watts.

The school board has approved a March 4 ballot measure which calls for a $.542 per $100 of assessed valuation increase in the general purpose tax rate in 1975-76; a $.6981 increase in 1976-77; and an $.8342 increase in 1977-78.

This would increase the authorized base revenue limit per average daily attendance from its current level of $1,278.40 to $1,450.40 in 1975-76, to $1,571.17 in 1976-77, and to $1,683.36 in 1977-78.

The school board accepted with deep regret the resignation for retirement purposes of business manager Milo Thomas who has been with the district 29 years.

Thomas went to work for Chaffey district Feb. 1, 1946 as a carpenter. He was elevated to superintendent of maintenance in 1948, coordinator of school expansion in 1957, administrative assistant to the superintendent in 1961, and has served as business manager since 1963.

His resignation is to become effective Aug. 8.

New $172,000 federal grant to create 17 community jobs

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

Montclair has received an additional $172,000 in federal funds for immediate hiring of new personnel. The grant is part of President Gerald Ford's economic plan to reduce the unemployment rate rapidly.

Mike Milhiser, administrative assistant told councilmen Monday night of the new funds from the Comprehensive Education and Training Act (CETA) Title VI.

During a lengthy sketch of the CETA history and purpose, Milhiser reported that the funds allocated this week will be used to employ 17 new city employees now through Dec. 31, 1975.

Federal legislation calls for priority hiring of unemployed Vietnam veterans, welfare recipients, Manpower Act trainees, women who are head of households and persons over 40.

There is no residency requirements although 11 Montclair residents were hired under the CETA, Title II funds.

The 17 new positions include an administrative aide, a civil engineering aide, four maintenance persons, six apprentice fire fighters, a special officer for the police department, an intermediate clerk typist, two police officers and a community service aide.

Milhiser said the federal law does not require local governments to retain CETA employees after the funds are depleted.

In approving the new positions, the council also approved the transfer of $11,000 from the contingency fund for the 23 per cent difference between the CETA maximum salary rate and the rate of police officers, and for minor equipment required for the fire fighting apprentice.

The city previously received $156,135 in CETA funds, bringing the total allocation to $328,185. Twenty-six persons were hired under the Title II program; and the city has been able to increase park maintenance, paint and clean the council chambers, provide additional custodians to release the city from a contract with a private firm, and hire new fire fighters to upgrade the local department, Milhiser said.

In other action, the council:

— Approved a suggestion by Councilman Nelson Gentry by a 3-2 vote, with Mayor Harold Hayes and Councilman Tom McClure opposed, to place a $74 advertisement in the Montclair Courier detailing the street sweeping schedule The mayor opposed the suggestion because it was "costly and singles out one newspaper when there are four papers serving the city."

— Heard a complaint from citizen Don Medbury regarding speeding along streets near Sunrise Park and problems of the neighborhood because the park is becoming a local lovers' lane. Council and staff promised to investigate the situation and increase police and helicopter patrol in the area.

— Heard a summary by Eileen King, supervisor of public health in the West End, of the West End Task Force of the Inland Counties Comprehensive Health Planning Council and the 1975 plan for health care. She asked that council members assist in locating a 1,500 square foot facility for ambulatory care in the centralized location of Euclid Avenue and Holt Boulevard.

Headon crash claims another

A headon collision involving two pickup trucks on Nov. 1 has claimed its second victim.

Jacqueline LaVerne Jamieson, 42, of 992 Indian Hill Blvd., Pomona, died Friday in the Julene Convalescent Home as a result of injuries sustained in the accident.

She was a passenger in the pickup driven by her husband, William, who was killed in the collision.

The second driver, Jasper Bentley, 22, of Fontana, also suffered serious injuries but survived, said highway patrolmen.

Bentley was driving north on Haven in the southbound lane when he collided headon with Jamieson's vehicle, which was traveling south, investigators said.

Mrs. Jamieson was born in Chicago, July 17, 1932. She was an employee of Pasco Plastic Co. She had lived in Ontario for several years and in Pomona for 2½ years. She was a member of St. George Catholic Church, Ontario.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Olchawa of Ontario; a daughter, Miss Paulette Roy of Ashland, Ore.; a sister, Sister Mary Joseph of New Jersey; and three brothers, Robert Olchawa of Cucamonga and Richard and Gene Olchawa, both of Ontario.

Rosary will be recited at Stone Funeral Home, Upland, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Mass will be celebrated at St. George Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Consider joint ownership of $300,000 golf clubhouse

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

La Verne City Council agreed Monday to consider an ordinance that would help San Dimas build a new $300,000 clubhouse at the jointly owned San Dimas Canyon Golf Course.

But councilmen served notice that they would consider "community feedback" before deciding whether to approve the measure.

The golf course is owned by the two cities through a joint powers agreement in which LaVerne's interest is 10 per cent.

San Dimas and the joint powers authority want to sell $350,000 worth of revenue bonds to build the club house and other incidental items this winter. Money would be paid back from the greens fees.

But La Verne Councilman Harrison Sanborn objected to the proposal, contending that the trend at present was to lease out construction work to private parties in exchange for concession privileges.

He said Los Angeles County will have such an arrangement at Mountain Meadows Golf Course, when those links are complete.

San Dimas City Manager Robert Poff said a city could obtain money much more cheaply than a private contractor, and that by building the clubhouse the two cities would wind up with ownership of everything by 1998.

"We need a club house very, very badly," he said. "We're losing money because we don't have one."

He explained that while the week-ends have been busy, the golf course has had a lull during the week. He said the operators could eliminate much of tournaments must include the use of a "functional" club house. "Then we could accommodate tournaments. Golf Tournaments must include the use of a clubhouse to award trophies and hold banquets."

Councilman Dan Lopez said he still was concerned about the joint partnership because in the event of a loss, "the people will have to make up the deficits from taxes."

Poff assured him that such a possibility was remote, and even if it came to pass, San Dimas would make up nine-tenths of the loss.

He said the joint powers authority was opening bids Wednesday morning and asked the La Verne council to act as quickly as possible. Councilman

Pomona Valley Inn

From speakeasy to mental health center

Pomona Valley Inn soon may be changed from a hotel operation to a board and care facility for adults unable to cope emotionally with problems of independent living.

Aries Jupiter Corp. will ask Pomona Planning Commission Wednesday night for a zone change and use permit to allow the new use. The structure at 2180 W. Valley Blvd. is owned by Daud Alani and Ray Kazab of Los Angeles.

The commission meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers.

The hotel, which includes a restaurant, has had financial problems and several owners since it was built in 1962 at a cost of $1.2 million. The most recent occupant was the Razzmatazz Restaurant, owned by Alani, which featured a 1920s decor with a peek-hole in the door, fake police raids and phony gangsters.

In his application, C. L. Perry, corporation president, said he planned to remove all liquid dispensing facilities, convert rooms in the former public areas to recreational use, and use hotel rooms to house 200 adults, 18 and older.

There will be no mentally retarded or non-ambulatory persons included, he stressed.

"The facility will be open to free ingress and egress by the residents who are there on their own free will."

Present housing of self-sustaining persons under state aid is basically of minimum quality, Perry said. "This installation has the space, services and ground to provide a superior environment, conducive to creating standards of living for the residents."

City planning staffers recommended approval of the new use since the hotel is isolated from residential areas and there is a need for the type of care proposed.

In another matter, the commission will hold a public hearing for certification of an environmental impact report regarding the proposed closing of Monroe Street where it intersects with Orange Grove Avenue and landscaping of the cul-de-sac.

Temporary barricades were previously set up at the intersection when many motorists began using the residential street to avoid traffic signals at Orange Grove and McKinley avenues.

Need O blood donors

Donors with O positive blood are needed by the Pomona Blood Donor Center Wednesday to assure open heart surgery for a 46-year-old man.

Many of the available donors with O positive blood were scheduled today at the center to provide the necessary amount of blood for open heart surgery on a woman, 41, at Harbor General Hospital.

The Pomona Blood Donor Center of the American Red Cross is located at 420 N. Reservoir St., and open from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Appointments may be made by calling 629-7455.

EDITORIAL

Running to stay in same place

Although President Ford's whole tax-cutting recession-fighting, energy-conserving package seems to run into more congressional flack with each passing day, by far the most controversial aspect of it is his proposal to raise fees on foreign oil by $3 a barrel to discourage consumption.

Everyone agrees that the sagging economy needs a boost in the form of a massive transfusion of spending money into the pockets of Americans. The dispute is over how big a tax cut there should be and how it should be handled.

Democrats in Congress, however, are increasingly opposed to the oil price hike idea. The President estimates that it would result in higher gasoline prices of something under 20 cents a gallon. The extra federal income from this, as well as other taxes he proposes on domestic oil and natural gas, plus taxes on oil company windfall profits, would eventually be returned to the economy.

The critics argue that the higher cost of gasoline and home heating fuel would not only directly hit consumers where it hurts most. The higher cost of crude oil would indirectly raise the prices of a multitude of products made from petrochemicals, from toothbrushes to textiles, and thus feed the still-raging fires of inflation all the more.

At the same time, by raising the cost of manufacturing such things as automobiles, which use so many plastics, it could stiffen already strong consumer resistance to buying and further aggravate recessionary forces throughout the economy.

As for the energy-saving hopes of the plan, it may be wondered whether a 10-cent or 20-cent or even higher hike in the cost of a gallon of gasoline would discourage Americans from driving to any significant degree.

For better or worse, Americans are virtually dependent upon their cars, and the likely result of having to spend more to operate those cars, say some observers, would be that they would spend less on other things.

The experience of Europe may be instructive in this regard. Long before anybody heard of Abu Dhabi or the OPEC, Europeans were paying prices for gasoline that would have made Americans blanch. Despite this, and despite lower average incomes than Americans, Europeans took to the automobile after World War II in the same way Americans did in the early decades of the century.

To be sure, Europeans always favored small, economical cars, partly because of the high cost of gasoline but also because their city streets and country roads were not built to handle American-size cars.

In any event, Europeans today are doing what Americans will probably do: They are paying the price for gasoline — in some countries as much as $1.50 or $1.85 a gallon — and cutting their consumption only minimally.

Well, what can be done to cut gasoline consumption? Does anyone have a better idea than Mr. Ford?

Many in Congress favor rationing, arguing that this would limit automobile use while not contributing to inflationary pressures. But unlike a higher tax on gasoline, which at least is a straightforward, uncomplicated approach, rationing would require the setting up of bureaucratic machinery reaching from the federal to the local level and raise all kinds of questions about fairness and, as in World War II, possibly create a black market in coupons.

As it looks now, Americans are going to get a tax cut, which is bound to have a beneficial counter-recessionary effect.

But there is no solution in sight to the energy crisis, which is the central problem facing us in the immediate years ahead, and thus little prospect that we are not going to have to turn around and spend this new-found money so that, like Alice in Wonderland, we can just keep running in the same place we are today.

A 'somebody' Veep

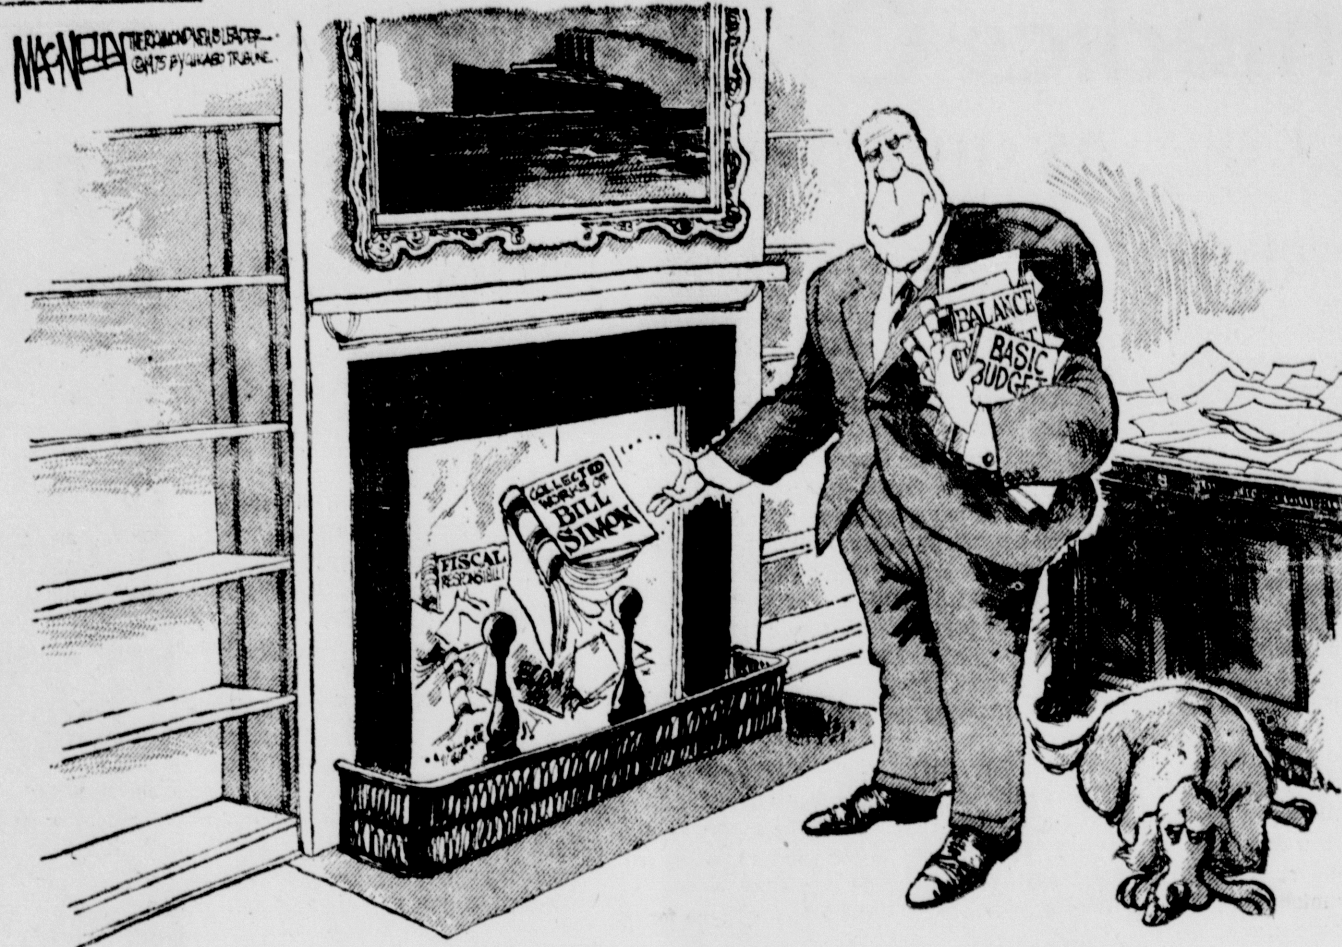

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller may well be destined for a unique and notable spot in American political history.

The 41st Veep completes the first two-man non-elected team this nation has ever had. But far more important is the fact that by skills, experience and the expressed determination of President Ford, Rockefeller will probably become the first truly working Vice President. The first "somebody" Veep, as it were.

It is envisioned that Rocky will be asked to utilize his long experience as New York's governor and his unquestioned knowledge in such fields as federal revenue sharing, drugs, crime, unemployment, education and governmental operations as a key advisor to the President on our very many domestic problems.

It has also been pointed out that he is well known internationally and would make an expert trouble shooter in world affairs, in close collaboration with Secretary of State Kissinger.

Congress had a field day in tearing Rockefeller to shreds, but then it approved him overwhelmingly. Now let us hope that since the decision has been made, our new Vice President will be given the opportunity to make a contribution to the nation no previous occupant of the "heart beat away" office has had a chance to do.

Japanese whalers accept quotas

Last Dec. 20 your newspaper ran a UPI story with a Seattle dateline reporting on plans for a joint American-Canadian effort to harass commercial whalers operating in the Pacific next spring.

We believe the following news release issued last Oct. 3 by the Japan Whaling Information Center will prove of interest to your readers.

NEW YORK — Japan's whaling industry has not asked the Government of Japan to enter objections to catch quotas voted at the June 1974 annual meeting of the International Whaling Commission.

This announcement was made here by the Japan Whaling Information Center.

Despite the fact that quotas will sharply reduce harvesting of fin and sei whales, decrease Japan's protein supply, and possibly require industry employee relocation, the Japan Whaling Association has decided to accept them for these reasons:

—It desires continued promotion of the balance between preservation and utilization of whale resources.

—It has confidence in management policies of the International Whaling Commission, assisted by member-nation scientists.

—It seeks improved scientific management of whale resources.

—It desires to maintain cooperative relations with the international community.

The Whaling Information Center added:

IWC deadline for filing objections was October 1, 1974.

It is our hope that this decision by the Japanese whaling industry will make clear that Japan is firmly committed to prudent conservation of the world's whale resources — a position subjected to widespread misinformation in the U.S.

This move should give reassurance to the conservationists and others on Japan's desire for global cooperation.

Pressures from Presidents past

WASHINGTON — The preliminary, secret testimony in the CIA investigation has focused on the White House itself.

Former CIA chief Richard Helms, according to sources close to the investigation, testified behind closed doors that he had been pressured by both presidents Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon to spy on Vietnam War protesters.

As far back as 1967, Helms alleged, Johnson began badgering him to investigate any connection between the protest movement and foreign enemies.

Both Johnson and Nixon suspected that the Communists were pumping money into the antiwar movement. However, Helms reported that the CIA found no significant foreign influence.

Some radical groups, such as the Black Panthers and the Weathermen, had foreign contacts. But the student opposition to the war effort was largely an American phenomenon, said Helms.

His secret testimony was taken by the President's Commission to Investigate the Central Intelligence Agency. Other witnesses confirmed that the CIA files on American citizens largely grew out of the Johnson-Nixon concern over the antiwar agitation.

At first, the Secret Service began investigating every group, no matter how innocent, that expressed the slightest criticism of the President. The Nonviolent Direct Action group came under surveillance, as a typical example, because it "urged members to write Pres and other govt officials to protest war in Vietnam," according to confidential Secret Service records.

By late 1970, the Secret Service developed a computer network, which now contains information on more than 180,000 Americans. Other government agencies also began trading information. Files began to grow on tens of thousands of citizens who were guilty of nothing more serious than shooting off their mouths against the President's policies.

Dozens of celebrities wound up in the files, including comedians, Dick Gregory, Groucho Marx and Tony Randall; actors Marlon Brando, Paul Newman and Rock Hudson; actor-producer Carl Reiner; conservative news commentator Paul Harvey; and folk singer Joan Baez.

The CIA, of course, got caught up in the hysteria. There were times when the CIA overstepped its legal limits and conducted domestic surveillance. It became increasingly difficult to draw the line between legitimate security and political security.

This was the atmosphere in the back-rooms of the CIA when the Watergate caper began. The CIA didn't balk, therefore, at furnishing E. Howard Hunt with a reddish wig, glasses, a speech alteration device, a set of alias documents, a tape recorder concealed in a portable typewriter case, two microphones and a camera disguised in a tobacco pouch.

Hunt used this James Bond paraphernalia to carry out his Watergate assignments. The CIA has insisted in secret statements that it had no knowledge of Hunt's Watergate role. The supply officer, Cleo Gephart, has sworn that he thought Hunt was a member of the CIA's Domestic Contact Service.

This is the branch that interviews U.S. travelers who might pick up interesting information abroad. Gephart didn't explain why Hunt would need a fancy disguise if he were merely conducting routine interviews.

It is also interesting that the CIA converted the Domestic Contact Service from a routine intelligence operation to a clandestine service in 1973. This was done ostensibly for budgetary reasons. But once the unit became a clandestine service, the CIA was no longer obligated to give Congress a detailed account of its activities.

In fairness, it should be added that Helms resisted most of the pressure from the White House to go beyond his legal authority.

WATCH ON WASTE: The balustrades and handrails in the old Senate Office Building have been refinished so Senators can descend the stairways in style. The cost to the taxpayers: $111,500. . . At Ft. Carson, Colo., the Army is planning to spend between $250,000 and $500,000 to build handsome, new field latrines near the base firing range. An Army spokesman told us it's all "according to regulations." . . . While President Ford is calling upon all Americans to conserve energy, Andrews Air Force Base, where the presidential planes are based, has upped its jet fuel requirements 246,750 gallons. A spokesman explained that more pilots have been assigned to the base, so more fuel is needed for them to fly. . . . Down the road at Bolling Air Force Base, enlisted men and women have been ordered to turn off their exterior lights in the family housing quarters to save energy. But the officers' lights, particularly along General's Row, still burn brightly. . . . After we reported that the Internal Revenue Service was treating itself to new furniture in Detroit and consigning used but useable furniture to outside offices, the frugal FBI called to request some of the old furniture. The G-men were told that the furniture could be distributed only to other IRS offices.

PAUL HARVEY

Taxes will put us in the poor house

Don't leave the United States; when you get back it won't be here.

Retiring Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) told his friends on The Hill that any American who goes away from the United States and returns in 10 years "will not recognize our government, will not feel at home in our country."

The senator was not talking about changes which "may take place" under the new Congress; he was referring to the continuing changes which are taking place now, the accelerated evolution which is transforming our country from what it was to whatever it is to be.

Here: What is the one item in your family budget which has increased faster than any other?

Careful, now—what one item in your cost of living has soared faster and higher these last six years than any other expense?

No, it's not food. It's not rent. It's not clothing.

It's taxes. Up 65 per cent in six years, taxes have increased twice as fast as the price of food. Now what is the No. 1 cause of these higher and higher taxes?

We're not fighting a war anywhere; surely it cannot be military extravagance. Foreign aid has been cut back.

No, the now No. 1 reason for the high cost of government is us. We keep asking government to do for us things which heretofore we did for ourselves. To perform these increasing services, government has to get bigger—and bigger.

And so, over the past 10 years government has been hiring additional personnel—1,200 every day! Nor can we blame Sam; most of this hiring was done at state and local level.

And still, as Jackson Jimmy says, for all the services which government performs for us there's still so little reciprocity—still so little allegiance to our government—that if you put up a flag in front of your house neighbors think you're opening a post office.

Economists and historians are in diametrical disagreement these days.

Leaders of nine European Common Market nations warn that the world is threatened by global recession which, they say, is more dangerous than inflation.

So they urge increased government spending to prime the pump, to create jobs. They urge us, the United States, to take the lead.

Historians shudder at the thought. It is their observation that no man ever spent himself dry; that no nation ever spent itself rich; inevitably, they spend themselves poor.

But elected politicians who think ahead only two years at a time are likely to buy one more round for the house if they have to pay for it with stage money.

That's why Sen. Aiken says our republic, 10 years from now, really will be "something else."

J. K. (DOC) PEIRSON

Just in jest

No wonder we call them the Good Old Days! In those times no one had to worry about harmful radiation from TV sets. Folks didn't get all choked up and bleary eyed because of auto exhaust fumes. People enjoyed cigarette smoking since no one had told them it could cause cancer.

They didn't worry about an energy crisis for they were firmly convinced most problems could be solved by exerting a little human energy. The air was still pure and undefiled since no one used hairsprays and under arm deodorants that came in aerosol cans.

They didn't have to worry about an anti-freeze shortage because there was no such thing as anti-freeze. Folks went happily about the business of cultivating their backyard gardens, which supplied most of their vegetable needs, because they lived in an era before the California Supreme Court had ordered an investigation to determine whether short handled hoes were unsafe.

Here in Pomona no one worried about school bond elections because in those days (1904) it cost only $3,000 a month to run Pomona's public schools. And if that isn't enough to convince you those were really the good old days, how about never having to figure out what to do about a toilet tissue shortage?

In those happy times folks solved that problem by following an example originally set by Queen Victoria, of England, who had all her old newspapers cut up into small squares for use in the palace lavatories.

Bigger the figure, muddier the track

John Dean broke fast from the starting gate in the Post-Prison Revelation Derby, and the former White House counsel's story was a dandy:

Nixon didn't destroy those Watergate tapes, Dean told NBC's Carl Stern in an exclusive interview, because the former President had talked to Chief Justice Warren Burger about the pending Supreme Court decision on executive privilege. In short, the fix was in.

Why the horse race metaphor? Let's just say that I got carried away by Stern's instant analytical jargon following his televised talk with Dean. Asked by anchorman John Chancellor whether he believed the Nixon-Burger story to be true, Stern replied that while one couldn't be absolutely certain, Dean's "track record" as a Watergate witness was "good."

So perishes—or, at least, is impaled—the reputation of a U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice in this all-news era of $2-window "investigative" journalism.

To be sure, there had to be several people, besides this observer, viscerally upset about John Dean's initial interview following his release from prison:

First, there were the other network investigative jockeys, who could hardly have enjoyed eating track dust behind NBC's news lead.

Next, there was John Dean's literary agent. Dean is said to have a publisher's advance running to six figures. Why, the agent must have wondered, did his charge drop such a juicy item as a freebie for Carl Stern, when he might better have saved it for his own Book of Revelations?

Finally, there was the Chief Justice, biggest victim yet of our investigative news media's latter-day penchant for offering up hearsay testimony as legitimate evidence.

What the court of public opinion was given to understand by the Dean interview was that Nixon had in fact discussed the tapes with the Chief Justice. Sure, Burger's office issued an immediate denial—but then, don't they all?

Yet, as the full story unfolded during the ensuing twenty-four hours, Dean's "evidence" was that Charles Colson had told him (Dean) that Nixon had told him (Colson) that Burger had told him (Nixon)—well, look, in a thirty-minute TV news show spliced by commercials, you can't go into all the details!

Anyway to Chancellor's credit, the anchorman did mention that Dean is due to make a good deal of money around the revelation track as a result of his Watergate cover-up involvement. But though that observation might have registered with some viewers, the damage to Burger's reputation, even if short-term, was considerable.

Columnist colleague Bill Safire, writing recently on this post-Watergate journalistic Zeitgeist made reference to a "New McCarthyism." In my opinion, however, it's time after twenty-five years, to let the late Wisconsin Communist-hunter rest in peace. A fresh term is needed to describe broad-gauge hearsay and guilt by association disseminated not by politicians using the media, but the media themselves.

Indeed, we might ask, if it could happen that way to a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, what public figure—especially a public figure associated with the Nixon administration—is safe in his reputation? The answer is, not a one: the bigger the figure, the muddier the track.

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

Heartline: I am 62 and drawing from my own Social Security account. My husband is 68 and drawing on his own. I would like to know if when I become 65, I can transfer to his account and draw 50 per cent of his benefits.—A.D.

Answer: When you become 65, you may change over to your husband's account, but since you started receiving your own benefits at the age of 62, you would not be entitled to a full wife's benefit of 50 per cent. There would be a reduction.

Heartline: Can a person on disability Social Security serve jury duty and collect wages and mileage allowance without being penalized?—W.A.

Answer: Yes, jury duty would not affect Social Security disability payments.

Heartline: I am 74 years old. My company said I was not qualified for a pension when I retired. Will the new law help me get one now?—R.W.

Answer: No, the new pension law will not affect anyone who is already retired.

Heartline: I am trying to locate an uncle I haven't seen in almost 20 years. Can you help?—L.M.

Answer: No, we are sorry—Heartline does not have sources to help locate missing persons.

Heartline: I am a veteran of the Korean War with the loss of one leg and one arm. Will the VA teach me to drive a car?—W.T.

Answer: They won't teach you to drive, but they will pay up to $2,800.00 for you to purchase a car or other conveyance, if your loss was service-connected.

Tibetan porters hiss to show appreciation

You know those Tibetan porters hired by mountain climbers to carry all the equipment? If you tip one of them, most likely he will drop to his knees, touch his forehead to the ground, then stick out his tongue at you and hiss. Am told this is somewhat unsettling to inexperienced visitors. Daresay. But it's an expression of gratitude there.

THAT WOMEN find it harder to quit smoking than do men has been reported. Obvious question is why. One theory submitted by a medical scholar who has made a study of the matter is women far more than men are scared they'll gain weight if they give up cigarettes.

ANN LANDERS

Parents and neighbors of hyperactive children helped by Pittsburgh group

Dear Ann Landers: My heart went out to "Newbury Park Cadaver," the mother of the six-year-old boy who was so active she had to hire a sitter, take a pillow and blanket and drive to a park so she could sneak in a nap.

Although I agree with your advice to get the child tested and perhaps put on medication, it isn't easy to find a physician who understands the hyperactive child. Sometimes medication is just a means of masking the symptoms.

It burns me up when well-meaning friends and relatives tell you, "There's nothing wrong with your child that a little discipline wouldn't cure." Our son was so unmanageable that the neighbors had to build a fence to keep him off their property. He was destructive and ruined their flowers and shrubs. Punishment was no deterrent. It only made him more incorrigible.

I have been helped a great deal by the National Association For Children With Learning Disabilities. Their headquarters is 5225 Grace Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15236. The Association is made up of doctors, parents, teachers and nurses. Invariably the hyperactive child is brighter than the average and can think of more mischief to get into. Please, Ann, tell "Newbury Park Cadaver" to write to

A.C.L.D. for literature. She will also be told the location of the nearest chapter. Parents who share a similar problem can be a godsend to one another. — Ohio Mother Who Owes A.C.L.D. A Lot

Dear Mother: I received over 100 letters from readers who praised A.C.L.D. It gets a five-star rating from this corner and I urge parents who have the problem to write to this organization.

Dear Ann Landers: You blew it again. I refer to the letter from the woman whose six-year-old son was allergic to cats. (He was getting asthma attacks and had developed a skin rash.) When the woman told her husband the cat had to go, he became upset and suggested a better solution — find a foster home for the child.

You said the guy was bananas. Well, Ann, I don't agree. Kids have caused more divorces than cats. Cats are also a lot cheaper to keep and they do not create havoc and dissension the way some kids do. So please don't write the guy off as a kook. He sounds like a solid citizen to me. — Another Stepdad With A Pain-In-The-Neck Kid

Dear Pain: Too bad I can't put you in touch with that other nut. I'm sure you'd have a great time together. I feel sorry for your wife — and your stepson has my heartfelt sympathy.

Dear Ann Landers: If I didn't see it with my own eyes I'd have trouble believing it.

A few days ago I received an invitation to a wedding and reception to follow. On the invitation was a handwritten note which read, "Please send $21 to pay for your transportation from the wedding to the reception. We are planning a great party at this beautiful resort and hiring buses for our guests."

This is a unique experience for me and I don't know how to deal with it. Frankly, I have better things to do with $21. — Plain Stunned

Dear P.S.: Inform the "host" that you'd be delighted to attend the wedding but you can't afford the reception.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Rattles & Straws

Body language is not body English

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Much has been made in recent months of the so-called "body language," that system of unconscious poses and gestures that reveal so much about you — you tug your ear, you're thoughtful; you rub your chin, you're suspicious; you scratch your butt, you're disgusting.

Nowhere are these signals as obvious — and expensive — as when you are playing cards. The way the knuckles of some poker players whiten when they fill an inside straight, they might just as well put their cards face up on the table.

Bridge, gin, poker, hearts or Old Maid — it doesn't matter what your game; unless you are constantly on guard, your body posture will give away your hand before you open your mouth.

A guy playing poker, slumping casually in his chair, picks up five spades (five-card draw). Suddenly he is crouched over the table: cupping his cards and demanding "whose bet?"

You can tell just from the way he is sitting that you've lost your ante. The same is true in bridge. A fellow chatting amiably of this and that with the other players picks up a jack-high hand and continues to chat amiably of this and that, sitting back at his ease. But if he finds several face cards and a couple of aces, he is suddenly leaning forward, breathing his cards tightly, demanding "Whose bid?"

Wives are particularly sensitive to the unconscious signals of their husbands. An observant Ms can give you an accurate point count of hubby's hand at a glance. Huddled over the cards, he has a two-opener; sitting more or less naturally, he's probably holding a good supporting hand, but not enough to open; sitting back and launching into his anecdote about the chocolate sauce, he clearly has a complete bust.

When engaging in bridge, it is wiser to play with your own wife. In fact, engaging in ANYTHING, it is usually wiser to play with your own wife.

Wives know that when you have had a great day at the office that you are likely to overbid out of sheer exuberance. Wives know when you have had a bad day at the office you are likely to overbid out of despondency. Wives know when you have had one Scotch too many. Wives know when you're peering down the decolletage of your opponent's wife. Wives know everything.

DOCTOR COMMENTS

Cabbage, cukes have calories, too

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a weight watcher and have had my weight down for three years. I weigh 110 pounds and used to weigh 200. I am very interested in calories. You always say a calorie is a calorie, so why do some diets say you can eat all you want to of cucumbers, cabbage, radishes and so on?

Please let me know if you have to count them, as I would eat much more of them if they didn't have to be controlled.

DEAR READER — Many diets just disregard these items thinking they don't contribute much to the total calorie intake. The few calories they do contain, though, have to be added to the daily intake. The U.S. Department of Agriculture tables list one pared cucumber weighing seven ounces as 30 calories. Not very many people would eat a lot of cucumbers every day.

Except for those few people who have to watch every calorie, you can just about ignore these food items (cucumbers, lettuce, radishes), but when every calorie does make the difference in a successful diet program, then they have to be considered. Of course, if you would walk an extra mile each day you could eat almost two cucumbers and still not affect your calorie balance.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have split and peeling fingernails. Have asked doctors about it and never get an answer as to its cause. I've tried gelatin to no avail. I try to keep nail polish on them to protect them and even wear gloves. I'm 52 and have never had good nails. In the last eight years they have been so bad they peel back in layers, that, of course, keeps the ends soft and ragged.

I eat a wide variety of fruits and vegetables. I do not care for milk, but do eat milk products, cheese and cottage cheese.

DEAR READER — Most people who have nail problems will not get any benefit from drinking gelatin mixtures. Gelatin is a protein and has only part of the essential amino acids the body needs. I suppose if a person were deficient in the amount of protein in the diet it might do some good, but in our society protein deficiency is not very common.

Women, particularly, are apt to have iron and calcium deficiencies that contribute to poor nails. The iron-deficiency may show up with an anemia or even with difficulty in swallowing and various digestive complaints. Any common all-purpose daily vitamin pill with iron should satisfy the need for iron except in the presence of medical problems.

Calcium deficiencies are widespread because people don't use milk or milk products. Cottage cheese is a good source of calcium, but if that is your main source I wonder if you really use enough every day to meet your calcium needs. If you don't like to drink milk you might find ways to use it in cooking. You can use the dry milk powder in cooking and increase the calcium intake. Desserts are often given a bad press because they are sweet. A dessert can be good for you if made with sufficient amounts of milk containing protein and calcium. It is what is in the dessert that counts, not just whether it is sweet or not.

Finally, some women benefit from using one of the nail polish preparations intended to harden and cover or protect the nails. These preparations work better than ordinary nail polish.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Therapy for those with hang-ups

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although not a subscriber, I can appreciate the valuable service performed by Playboy, Penthouse and kindred periodicals in counseling the sexually disoriented.

Problems that a good shrink might soak you a couple of grand to analyze are fielded free by the psycho-girlie mags.

I know a bit about this because this column also gets letters from readers with bizarre hang-ups. Heretofore, I have answered them privately. But since there is now such strong public interest in these matters, I have decided to pass a few along:

"Dear Sir: Man, I'm like really grooving on this chick in sophomore English, only I can't do anything about it because the professor won't let us disrobe in class. What do you suggest?" (signed) Frustrated."

"Dear Frustrated: Take a portable shower to class with you. Although your clothes will get soggy and you may have trouble hearing the lecture with the water running, there's nothing like a cold shower for dampening ardor."

"Dear Sir: For several years, I have had a thumb fetish. At first it was nothing more than getting turned on by hitchhikers and baseball umpires calling out base runners. But recently I have fallen in love with my own thumbs."

"If you could see my thumbs, you would understand. They are perfectly adorable. The trouble is, I am by nature a very jealous person. I can't stand for anyone else even to so much as glance at my thumbs."

"I have tried keeping them tucked under my fingers, but this makes it difficult for me to earn a living in my chosen vocation, which is picking grapes."

"Does this mean I am some kind of a weirdo?" (signed) Anxious."

"Dear Anxious: Not in the least."

"Recorded cases in homodigital-phia, which is what you are describing, date back to the ancient Greeks, who also started a lot of other things."

"If having the other workers in the vineyards ogle your thumbs makes you jealous, buy a pair of surgical gloves and dye the thumb parts black."

"This will enable you to pluck grapes nimbly while keeping your thumbs hidden from view."

"Dear Sir: My boy friend and I have discovered a new thrill that is so sensational I just had to tell someone about it."

"We cover our entire bodies with barbecue sauce, crawl into the oven and bake ourselves for 30 minutes at 320 degrees Fahrenheit."

"Believe me, it's dynamite. We both love it, but I am wondering if it might be harmful. (signed) Excited."

"Dear Excited: Not if you remember to preheat the oven."

For Wednesday Jan. 22

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you're conducting business with a friend today, be prepared for the unexpected. Settle any misunderstanding amicably.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't use pressure tactics to get compliance with your wishes. The ally you gain will not prove reliable over the long haul.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a tendency to say one thing and mean another. You may think you're doing it cleverly, but others will see through the facade.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A relationship with a close friend is under more strain than you realize. Root out and discuss the underlying problem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's not the time to be indecisive about an important goal. Take some small steps toward your target or you'll lose momentum.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Normally, projects you undertake are well thought-out. Today will be an exception. Slovenly methods will curb productivity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't get yourself involved now in another's complicated affairs. Think twice before making loans, borrowing or advising.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Erratic moves on your behalf today could jeopardize the harmony in an important relationship. Be moderate. Keep cool.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to fail heir to additional tasks today. You'll manage neatly if you don't make them seem tougher than they are.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're far too sensible to believe you can get something for nothing, yet today you'll bank your hopes on that theme.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're too dictatorial with those in your charge today, it will provoke a very unpleasant response — one difficult to handle.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You will have some difficulty today in getting hold of people. Verify all important appointments.

Your Birthday Jan. 22

This will be a year when many unusual opportunities will be dangled before your eyes. Don't make sudden changes unless you're positive where they'll lead.

Harris is NFC hero

MIAMI (UPI) — The 1974 National Football League season ended Monday night with one of the same messages that marked its beginning way back last August—black quarterbacks can get the job done.

The Los Angeles Rams' James Harris made the latest dent in one of the most longstanding prejudices among sports fans. He led the National Conference to a 17-10 win over the American Conference in the annual Pro Bowl by throwing eight-yard touchdown passes to Mel Gray of the St. Louis Cardinals and Charley Taylor of the Washington Redskins.

The season began with Joe Gilliam, another black quarterback, leading the Pittsburgh Steelers to a strong start. He was later replaced by Terry Bradshaw, who brought Pittsburgh the NFL championship last week.

But then Harris stepped into the starting role at Los Angeles after John Hadl was traded away. The Harris-led Rams went on to challenge for the NFC title, losing 14-10 to Minnesota in the championship game.

Monday night, Harris replaced sore-armed Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota in the All-Star game and won the Most Valuable Player Award for his performance.

Going into the game, the AFC had won the last three Super Bowls and six of the last seven and the last three Pro Bowls but Harris said he wasn't aware of that problem.

NFC coach Chuck Knox, also of Los Angeles, was, and so were many of his other players.

"The players had been waiting for this and it was a great personal satisfaction for me," Knox said. "We even had guys volunteering to go in on the kickoff team. Our goals were to beat the AFC and have some fun. We did both. It's a great way to start 1975."

The nationally televised game got off to a slow start before a disappointing crowd of only 26,484 fans, and at the half, Chester Marcol's field goal gave the NFC a 3-0 lead.

Early in the third quarter, Miami quarterback Bob Griese hit Dolphin teammate Paul Warfield on a scoring 32-yard post pattern. Pittsburgh's Roy Gerela then made it 10-3 for the AFC with a 33-yard field goal.

That's when Harris, replacing St. Louis' Jim Hart who went out with an eye injury, went to work with his two scoring passes. He finished the day with seven completions in 13 attempts for 119 yards.

Hart was put out of action in the first half with cuts around his left eye.

"I was just trying to fill in," Harris said. "I just wanted to give my best every play and that's how I went into the game."

AFC Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders admitted disappointment.

"Any time you lose you're disappointed," he said. "We missed a lot of opportunities ... but all in all, it was a crisp game. It wasn't sloppy."

Maybe Pomona's troubles are over

"In the past two months, I feel like I've aged five or six years and I've lost a great deal of weight. A coach shouldn't have to go through all this, especially when it all happens at one time."

That sounds like a coach whose season has been completely wiped out, and there's nothing left for him to do.

But it isn't.

Believe or not, they are words of Pomona High's head basketball coach Ed Taylor. His season isn't washed up, but with all the Red Devils have gone through it's amazing it hasn't been.

Looking at the Devils' record so far this season, it appears that they are probably just lacking the material needed to put together a successful season. However, the material is there. It just isn't there all the time.

Pomona has been hit by injuries and an unusual amount of personnel problems.

"It's been frustrating," Taylor pointed out. "We haven't had the same starting lineup in all but two games. I've been starting the guys who put out the most effort in the practice before the game."

The reason for the shuffling of the lineup is that key players for the Devils have been quitting, rejoining and sustaining injuries ever since the Upland-Montclair Tournament which opened the season a month and a half ago.

At the U-M Tournament, forward Dave Zibell came up with an injury and forward Sam Davis was poked in the eye. Both missed one and a half weeks of action.

Then Pomona's leading scorer, guard Danny Wilson, quit the team. At the same time, center John Wieman was suffering from a virus. And then guard Derrick Thomas quit.

They were all starters at the time.

Wilson returned to the team after missing four games. Wieman got back in uniform after missing five games. Thomas rejoined the team after skipping four games.

The three of them were out at the same time for one week, just prior to the opening of San Antonio League play.

As soon as they returned, Zibell quit the team and is not expected to return. And then, if that wasn't enough, guard Tony Pitts and Thomas were suspended for a while for disciplinary reasons.

Pitts missed all of last week, and Thomas sat out last Friday's game.

Meanwhile Taylor brought up a couple players from his junior varsity team. They were the bright spots for Pomona while everything else was going on.

In fact, Red Devil James Knight is the second-leading scorer in the league with a 17.0 average.

"I think all of our problems are over with now," Taylor projected. "I don't anticipate any more, unless they're the same kind of problems we've already had. The team spirit is up, especially after we played so well against Garey."

Although Pomona lost that one last Friday by 19 points, Taylor thought the Red Devils' performance was encouraging.

"As far as the ball players are concerned," he said, "we played our best game against Garey. We shot 62 per cent, but we just couldn't keep them (Garey) from scoring. The players seemed excited about it, and they said they're ready to play that kind of ball the rest of the way."

"We still have the talent, and we hope to finish in the right spot to get a CIF berth," he added.

If the Devils do make it to the CIF playoffs, it'll be an incredible recovery.

Walnut, Bonita heavily favored

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Walnut and Bonita highs, two of the top three contenders for the Hacienda League basketball championship, should have an easy going Wednesday when they open the third week of loop competition.

Walnut (13-4), the CIF 2-A's No. 4 ranked team going into this week, will host Sierra Vista (1-3). Meanwhile, Bonita will entertain a Royal Oak team which has failed to come up with a victory in 12 outings.

A successful week for both teams will set off a face-off between the two next Tuesday afternoon, completing the first round of league play.

In other Hacienda League action Wednesday, Alta Loma (3-1) hosts Ontario (1-3), and San Dimas (2-2) visits Gladstone (2-2). All games are scheduled to begin at 3:15 p.m.

Walnut is presently holding the Hacienda lead with a perfect 4-0 record, with Bonita and Alta Loma deadlocked in second place with 3-1 marks.

The Mustangs definitely look like the team to beat this year, even though they lost their entire starting unit to graduation after taking the league title last year.

They depend on the good outside shooting of forward Ken Czarnecki and guard Kelly Bowlin, and the inside board work of center Jay Wetzel and forward Cliff Manning.

Guard Tommy Thompson, who set a CIF record earlier this year with 18 assists in one game, is the playmaker for the defending champs.

Not only does Walnut have a good sound ball club, they have the height to go along with it. The Mustangs' front line averages 6-foot-4, while the backcourt aces stand at 6-0 (Thompson) and 5-10 (Bowlin).

Four of the five starters for Walnut are averaging in double figures, with Czarnecki averaging 15.7 for the season. Manning is pumping in an average of 13.3 points an outing, while Wetzel and Bowlin stand at 10.8 for the year.

Bonita also has its share of talent, with Harold (H.P.) Drake leading the way.

Drake, who is currently sharing the league scoring lead with San Dimas' Steve Brahs, is averaging 21.3 points in four games. For the season, H.P. (Harold Paul) is averaging an amazing 22.9 points per contest.

Bearcat center Steve Sly is also ranked among the league's and valley's top scorers. Sly, the 6-foot-3 junior, is much improved over last year and is averaging 18.0 points for the season and 14.6 in league.

Chaffey High will get its chance to rebound from a Citrus Belt League loss over the weekend when it visits winless Eisenhower tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The Tigers (1-3 in the CBL) are sitting in fifth place in the six-team circuit, while Eisenhower rests in last place with a 0-4 mark.

In other high school action tonight, La Verne Lutheran hosts Aquinas (8 p.m.) and Webb School visits CSDR (4:30 p.m.) in Arrowhead League play, and Ontario Christian travels to Bell-Jeff in Olympic League competition (8 p.m.).

Spencer funeral set Wednesday

CYPRESS — Funeral services for race driver Bill Spencer, 26, will be held here Wednesday.

Spencer, who recently moved to Pomona from Buena Park, was killed in a head-on crash into a wall at the Riverside International Raceway Saturday.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. at Church of Our Father at Forest Lawn Cypress.

Sacramento St. visits Poly

Sagehens entertain Leos

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

Conference games between Pomona-Pitzer and La Verne plus Claremont-Mudd and Redlands highlights an unusually heavy Tuesday night schedule of college basketball games tonight.

The Sagehens (2-2) host La Verne (2-2) while Claremont-Mudd (1-3) travels to Redlands (2-1) in Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) games.

In non-conference tilts, Cal Poly (5-6) hosts Sacramento State (9-7) while Azusa Pacific (8-6) is at Cal Baptist (13-5).

All games are slated for 8 p.m. starts.

Pomona-Pitzer (5-3 overall) is coming off its biggest win of the season, a 63-62 upset of Occidental at Oxy Saturday night.

"The whole team played very well," said Sagehens coach Les Nagler. "I was very pleased with the guys that worked the boards."

The 'Hens outrebounded taller Oxy, 43-25. Center Geoff Northrop led the way with 16 boards along with 22 points. Forward Brandon Boyd also scored 22. In fact, in the Sagehens' four conference games to date, Northrop has 84 points and 63 rebounds. Boyd has 74 points and 31 rebounds.

"We're going to have to contain Northrop and Boyd if we're going to do anything against Pomona-Pitzer," said La Verne coach Art Bias.

The Leopards (7-8 overall) are coming off a big win themselves. They edged Redlands, 56-55, Saturday night in the Supertent. Both Redlands and Occidental were undefeated in conference play prior to their games with La Verne and Pomona-Pitzer.

"We felt we had to win that game," Bias remarked. "With two league losses, we can't afford to lose anymore. We've been on the road twice and at home twice. We've won twice at home and now we're going to have to win on the road."

Claremont-Mudd (3-12) very nearly upset Whittier in its last outing. The Stags took the Poes into overtime before dropping a 79-74 contest.

The main problems besetting the Stags is lack of a consistent scoring punch and turnovers. Center Dave Wilhite is the leading scorer with a 13.7 average. C-M has been averaging around 20 turnovers a game and had 25 Saturday night at Whittier.

At Cal Poly, the Broncos will be facing a team that has won eight of its last 10 games including the championship of the Chico St. Invitational Tournament.

MONTREAL (UPI) — Wisecracks aside, even Bep Guidolin has to be wondering what he's doing here.

It isn't one of your everyday occasions that the coach of a last place team, one showing only nine victories in 44 games, gets to lead an all-star team. But Guidolin will be behind the Prince of Wales Conference bench tonight for the 28th annual National Hockey League All-Star game.

Little wonder that it was suggested to him it would be like a breath of fresh air to step into the all-star dressing room and survey the mass of talent around him.

"I love my Kansas City room," the coach of the expansion Scouts replied

Cazzie Russell may play tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers may have Cazzie Russell in the lineup for the first time this season when they face the Pacific Division-leading Golden State Warriors tonight.

Russell, an ex-Warrior, has been sidelined since undergoing knee surgery in October. He was injured in an exhibition game at Seattle.

"I've never had a player work harder than Cazzie," said Sharman, whose Lakers are in last place in the division. "His quickness and timing are still a little off and he's not completely familiar with our plays. But I'd like to find a place to use him tonight."

The Lakers need Russell at forward since Connie Hawkins is out with a broken finger on his right hand. The Lakers, who are 17-25 and 9½ games behind Golden State, have had a nine-day layoff. They're home against New Orleans Friday night.

Sacramento State is led by 6-3 junior forward Joe Garland who is averaging 19 points a game. The other forward, 6-6 De King, leads the Hornets in rebounding with an average of 8.5 per contest.

"We're going to take this opportunity of playing non-league games to take a look at everybody," said Poly coach Don Hogan. "We need better play from our center position. We have to get everybody believing (in themselves and the team) again."

Hogan followed the same procedure last week in non-conference tilts with Cal St. Fullerton and Cal Lutheran. The Broncos lost to Fullerton but defeated CLC.

Azusa Pacific hopes to have center Keith Walker back for tonight's game with Cal Baptist. Walker reinjured a severely sprained ankle one week ago tonight at La Verne.

In the meantime, the Cougars have been strengthened by the return of Rick Reed who averaged 25.6 points a game last year. Reed's family filed suit against the NAIA and APC to show cause why Reed should not be declared eligible to play. Under a court injunction, Reed will play until at least Jan. 31 when a decision will be made.

in a stern voice. Then, breaking into a grin, he added, "The only thing is I'm not getting any fresh air lately."

Guidolin earned his enviable all-star post by coaching Boston to the East Conference championship last season and into the Stanley Cup final against Philadelphia.

He then left the Bruins, in a blaze of angry words, to take over the thankless job at Kansas City.

Making Guidolin's position a touch more uncomfortable for tonight is the presence on his team of four of his former Bruins—Phil Esposito, Bobby Orr, Carol Vadnais and Terry O'Reilly, a last day replacement for the injured Johnny Bucyk.

Guidolin exchanged bitter words with Esposito via the press following his departure, but said all is now forgiven—on his part, at least.

Fred Shero, Guidolin's adversary from Philadelphia in the Stanley Cup final, once again will mastermind the other side in the all-star game.

Shero beat Guidolin to the punch in one respect, naming his offensive and defensive alignments more than 24 hours in advance of the game while Bep chose to study his roster further before committing himself.

Guidolin stirred some controversy Monday after being informed that Boston had nominated O'Reilly to replace Bucyk. Bep, somewhat annoyed that he heard of the change from newsmen, contended that another right wing could disrupt his team balance and he asked NHL President Clarence Campbell if he could nominate Dave Forbes of Boston instead.

Geoff Northrop Player of Week

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — Geoff Northrop chose Pomona-Pitzer when he probably could have gone to Notre Dame.

This was just one of several items disclosed when Northrop Monday was named College Division Player of the Week by the Southern California Basketball Writers at their weekly luncheon meeting.

Northrop scored 44 points and grabbed 35 rebounds in two Pomona-Pitzer wins last week. The high-scoring sophomore center had 22 points and 19 rebounds as the Sagehens upset Occidental at Oxy Saturday.

"I was one of the players along with Adrian Dantley and Bill Paterno the Irish recruited two years ago," Northrop revealed. "They wanted films of me, but I didn't have any. They said if I was interested to come and talk with them. But I told them I really didn't care to go to Notre Dame."

The 6-5 LaJolla resident is a government major at Pomona College and is considering studying law after graduation.

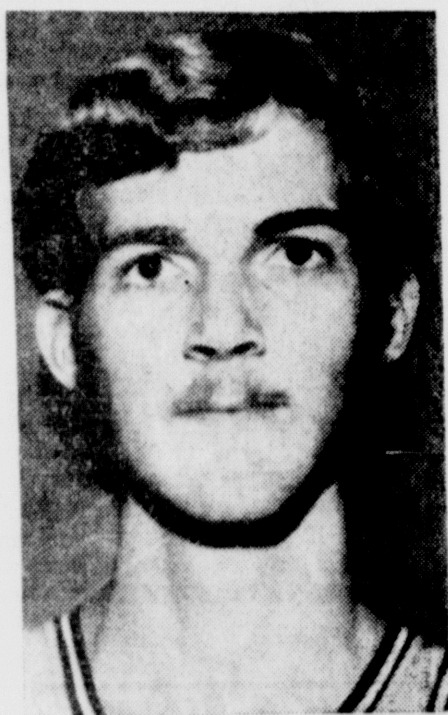

"I've been lucky enough to play against some pretty good competition," Northrop said. "I played against Ralph Drollinger and Wilbert Olinde of UCLA when we were all in high school in the San Diego area."

"The last two summers I've worked at John Wooden's basketball camps," he continued. "That man (Wooden) is there from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and I've learned some things from him. I've also enjoyed the opportunity of playing against UCLA alumni Sidney Wicks and Steve Patterson. It was really helpful to me."

Gus Williams of USC and Marcos Leite of Pepperdine were named Co-Players of the week in the University Division. Williams, a 6-2, senior guard scored 57 points as USC split with Cal and Stanford. Leite, a 6-10 sophomore center had 54 points in wins over St. Mary's and Seattle.

Quoting the coaches:

JOHN WOODEN, UCLA — "Stanford just played an outstanding game and beat us. I was not dis-pleased with our defense. We just didn't shoot well enough or score enough. I think we're as good as anybody in the conference and they're as good as us. We can beat anybody in the conference and anybody can beat us unless we play with intensity. We've been outrebounded three games in succession and I can't remember when that happened last. I think rebounding should be one of our strengths. We have some players that are capable of getting more rebounds than they have."

BOB BOYD, USC — "We missed the first free throw in one-and-one situations too many times (against Stanford). There probably isn't anyway of evaluating how the less will effect the team. We're off for awhile now because of the semester break. When we come back, we play UCLA. Oregon and Oregon St. away. That will make five successive games on the road which means we'll have a lot of homes games at the end of the season."

HOWARD LYONS, BIOLA — "We had one of our best weeks in years in beating Southern California College (SCC) and Azusa Pacific back-to-back Friday and Saturday. APC won two of three my first year here. We split the next year and last year they beat us twice. This year we've beat them twice. The first time was for the Redlands Tournament championship. They didn't have their center, Keith Walker, Saturday night. But they did have their All-American, Rick Reed, back."

Claremont, Garey in key soccer tilt

Claremont High's soccer team will open the third week of San Antonio League action Wednesday afternoon by facing a team which threatens to take over the top spot in the standings.

Claremont (4-0 in the SAL) will host second-place Garey High at Summer Park in Claremont in what should be one of the more exciting match-ups of the season.

Garey (3-0-1) is only one point behind the league-leading and three-time defending SAL champion Wolfpack, with its only setback being a 2-2 tie with Chino last week.

In their SAL action Wednesday, Ganessa visits Webb School, Damien hosts Chino, and Pomona travels to Montclair. All games are slated for 7:30 p.m. starts.

There will be an interesting individual match-up in the Claremont-Garey contest. Claremont's All-CIFer Gesner DoCarro will be matched up against Garey's scoring machine, Peter Manzo. Manzo scored five goals and assisted on another one last Friday in the Vikings' 6-0 shutout of Pomona. DoCarro holds the CIF record for most goals scored in one season, which was 46 last year.

The Chino-Damien battle should also be interesting, although the records don't show it. Chino (2-0-2) is still unbeaten in the SAL and sits in third place, while Damien (2-2) has already suffered two losses and is in the fifth spot in the standings.

The outcome of the Pomona and Montclair match will decide which team has sole possession of the SAL cellar, if it doesn't end in a tie.

Kentucky eyes more banners for Coliseum

By United Press International

The rafters of the University of Kentucky Memorial Coliseum are littered with banners commemorating the Wildcats' bundle of Southeastern Conference championships won under the aegis of Adolph Rupp.

They hang like the "Sword of Damocles" over the head of Kentucky Coach Joe Hall, who had the misfortune of taking over the Kentucky basketball program at the same time the rest of the SEC discovered the existence of the sport of basketball.

But after a disastrous 13-13 record last season, the Wildcats served notice Monday that Kentucky was ready to reclaim ownership of the SEC basketball title. The 10th-ranked Wildcats overcame a poor first-half performance to drop Alabama, the conference favorite, 74-69.

Kentucky's victory over the sixth-ranked Crimson Tide created a three-way tie, which also includes Auburn, atop the SEC.

Freshman Jack Givens' lay-up with seven minutes left in the game broke a 55-55 tie and put Kentucky ahead for good. The Wildcats had shot a miserable 28 per cent in the first half, allowing Alabama to grab a three-point halftime lead.

But senior guards Kevin Grevey, who finished with 20 points, and Jimmy Dan Conner, who had 18, guided the Wildcats' second-half resurgence. Their outside shooting keyed the Kentucky comeback, but Mike Flynn added 12 points on driving layups through the Alabama man-for-man defense.

Alabama is now 11-2 overall, while the Wildcats are 12-2. In other games involving nationally ranked teams, top-ranked Indiana cruised to its 20th straight victory, 89-69 over Wisconsin, and 15th-ranked South Carolina dumped Niagara 89-79.

Quinn Buckner, the Hoosiers' outstanding guard who has concentrated upon his defense and setting up his teammates this season, scored 26 points in leading Indiana to its sixth Big Ten victory of the season. Indiana center Kent Benson added 20 points and Scott May 17 to the romp.

The Gamecocks, now 10-4, converted 67 per cent of their shots to easily handle Niagara.

Sports news in brief

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Ireland resigned Monday as coach of the Loyola University basketball team and his assistant, Jerry Lynne, was named acting head coach.

Ireland's resignation was dictated by poor health, and he said he suffered from "cardiovascular disease complicated by diabetes."

Ireland has been coach at Loyola since 1951 and athletic director since 1956, winning 321 games and losing 255. His 1963 Rambler team won the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship.

TOKYO (UPI) — Koichi Wajima of Japan Tuesday night regained his world junior middleweight championship by scoring an upset unanimous 15-round decision over defending champion Oscar Albarado of Los Angeles.

There were no knockdowns in the toe-to-toe fight throughout the 15 rounds.

Referee Dick Young of Los Angeles scored it 69-67 for Wajima while judge Joe Olmos of Los Angeles called it 70-69 and Japanese judge Takeshi Kanaya had it 74-68, both for Wajima.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rich Kelley of Stanford, who scored 22 points against UCLA and 30 points against Southern California to help the Cardinals win with upsets, has been named Pacific-8 Conference Basketball player of the week.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Johnny Bench, one of Cincinnati's and the sports world's most eligible bachelors, is getting married to a girl he has known less than a month.

The Cincinnati Reds' catcher, twice the most valuable player in the National League, broke the news Monday he will marry New York city model Vickie Chesser here Feb. 21.

Bench, a native of Oklahoma City, Okla., is 27 and Miss Chesser is 25.

Bill Walton not talking

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Bill Walton will likely be playing but still not talking tonight.

The Portland Trail Blazers arrived in town Monday and worked out for their contest tonight with the Kansas City Omaha Kings. Their recusive redhead star practiced but said little about the rash of reports that he wants out of his contract.

"There's been so much said about this that I feel it's better not to make any comment," Walton said. "Any comment I would make would only serve to disrupt things further."

Teammate Sidney Wicks said to be the only player who can communicate with the recusive rookie superstar, said Walton is "as happy as I am. Now you ask how happy I am." Wicks didn't elaborate.

HEAVY EXORCISE — Nehemiah Persoff, right, attempts to exorcise an evil spirit from the young bride, Marilyn Lightstone, as Helene Winston and Bert Freed look on, in a scene from "The Dybbuk," opening Jan. 30 at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center. The U. S. premiere of John Hirsch's new adaptation of the drama runs to March 16.

'All My Sons' Miller drama opens at Hartford Theater

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Aside from routine performances by the stars and rather pedestrian direction by Glenn Jordan, it is hard to pinpoint exactly what makes the Huntington Hartford production of "All My Sons" such a long evening.

The Arthur Miller drama opened at Hollywood's Vine Street theater last week with an uninteresting cast headed by Jack ("The Odd Couple") Klugman and Sada ("Sandburg's Lincoln") Thompson. They perform well but without inspiration, and Miller's early play, like the faulty planes that form the nexus of the story, never gets off the ground.

'Jean Brodie' to open at VCT Thursday

Valley Community Theater will present "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" Thursday through Feb. 22. The play will run at the theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

The opening night presentation will be followed by the traditional champagne party for cast, stage crew and audience.

The play is an adaptation of the novel by Muriel Spar, written for the stage by Jay Presson Allen.

Assisting Jim Gardner, director, with the technical aspects of the production are Jess Ray, technical director; Ellen Clegg, costumes; and Ed McCormick, set construction.

"All My Sons" runs through Feb. 9.

Violinist to perform at Bridges

Violinist Charles Libove, assisted by members of the music faculty of Pomona College, will present a recital of chamber music in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Thursday. Admission is free.

The artists are Giora Bernstein, violinist, and Gabor Rejto, cellist.

The program will open with Libove and Bernstein performing Mozart's Duo in G for Violin and Viola. Then Libove and Rejto will play Kodaly's Duo for Violin and Cello. All three artists will perform the String Trio in C Minor, No. 3, by Beethoven.

A concert artist of international reputation, Libove currently teaches at the University of New York at Potsdam. For the past several summers, he has contributed his performance and coaching talents to the Claremont Music Festival.

Rejto, head of the string department at USC, also performs internationally, and he has been active in the Pomona College concert series this season. Bernstein is an associate professor of music at Pomona College and is conductor of the college's orchestra.

Violinist to perform at Bridges

Violinist Charles Libove, assisted by members of the music faculty of Pomona College, will present a recital of chamber music in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Thursday. Admission is free.

Viola recital scheduled at Garrison

Japanese violinist Nobuko Imai will present a recital in Garrison Theater, Claremont, at 8:15 tonight.

The program is one in the Claremont Colleges' Young Artists Series. Reservations can be made at 626-4523.

Miss Imai, winner of the Munich and Geneva international viola competitions, made her American debut in New York City in 1968. She also won the Young Concert Artists Auditions.

Parrot dies, gives disease to owners

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) — Joy Jackson gave her husband Maurice a parrot for Christmas, but it died three days later.

Now Jackson and his wife have been taken to a hospital suffering from psittacosis — a bird disease transmittable to human beings.

Big Band to perform at Mr. B's

The swing music of the 1930s and '40s will be heard again with the performance of Fabio's Big Band U.S.A. at Mr. B's restaurant, 390 Pomona Mall East, Pomona, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Sunday.

This is the third appearance of the band at Mr. B's. The 15-piece group is made up of musicians who have formerly played with such bands as Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, Les Brown and others.

There is no admission charge.

Temporary help

About two million women and 500,000 men are employed by temporary help services each year, according to one temporary help service.
